Cambodia Parley Seen Wedge to Viet Peace Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today a proposed international conference on Cambodia may provide the framework for Viet Nam discussions with the Communists.

He also praised President Johnson's choice of Ambassador W. Averell Harriman as the U.S. representative to the proposed conference on Cambodia, which some observers hope could lead to talks on Viet Nam.

In an interview, Mansfield said Harriman had proposed effective in previous talks with the Russians. They were represented, along with Communist China, the United States, Britain, France, North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, in the 1954 Geneva conference on Viet Nam.

Although Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Monday he had been informed the United States could not expect any Viet Nam overtures, Mansfield said he doubted that any discussion on Cambodian neutrality could be carried on without mention of its neighboring country.

"I hope that once they sit down to talk about Cambodia, they will keep on talking," he said. "This conference seems to me to provide about the only method of getting the interested parties together for possible discussions of Viet Nam."

Mansfield has been a strong advocate of seeking negotiations aimed at ending the Viet Nam war which Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Monday called "President Johnson's war."

Assailing statements made by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Morse said both should have been fired months ago.

Major Bridge In North Viet Nam Plastered

U.S. Jets Pound Span Third Time, Report Success

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets, after two unsuccessful tries, hit the Bai Duc Thon bridge in North Viet Nam today and buckled one of its three spans, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The bridge spans a river in a fairly deep valley 160 miles south of Hanoi. It withstood two previous poundings, one of them Monday.

Eight F100s carried out the strike on the bridge today. All the planes returned safely, and no enemy aircraft were reported seen.

Four Vietnamese Skyraiders also conducted armed reconnaissance runs over Routes 7 and 101. Then they turned on the Huu Hung highway ferry, on the Kien Giang River.

Bombs and rockets damaged both approaches to the ferry, a pier and a large storage building.

All the aircraft returned safely. Twenty-five U.S. Air Force jets flew top cover for both the American and Vietnamese missions.

A U.S. military spokesman said U.S. jets flew 44 strikes in South Viet Nam today.

A U.S. military spokesman said government troops and U.S. Army helicopter crewmen killed 108 Viet Cong during four widely scattered actions over the past two days.

The commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps said his Leathernecks "are prepared to take any steps necessary" to get their job done in Viet Nam.

Gen. Wallace W. Greene Jr. said on his arrival at Saigon Airport that while the U.S. Marine role in Viet Nam depends on what the other side may do, "we certainly will not" (Continued on Page Two)

Steel Strike Delay Expected

Union Chief OKs New Pay Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four-month steel strike reprieve was virtually certain today, lifting what the Johnson administration viewed as a disastrous threat to the nation's economy.

Ratification by the United Steelworkers Union and 10 major steel firms is expected to be a mere formality Wednesday, swapping a postponement of Saturday's 12:01 a.m. strike deadline for a pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

"This is a good day for the economy," said federal mediator William E. Simkin after union President David J. McDonald and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper put their initials on the agreement.

The stock market promptly rallied, canceling earlier losses, when the agreement was reported Monday.

McDonald emphasized the 11.5 cents is only the price the industry must pay for a strike delay and that the union still expects to win at last 17.9 cents an hour in wage gains.

Although the steel firms and the union's wage policy committee still must ratify the agreement, Simkin was so confident he planned to return to Washington today.

In exchange for the 11.5-cent pay raise for nearly half a million workers, McDonald agreed to drop the union's demand that any eventual settlement be retroactive to May 1 when present contracts expire.

He also said if final agreement is not reached by Aug. 31, "a strike or a lockout could occur."

One major firm, Wheeling Steel Corp., broke Big Steel's united front by agreeing earlier to make any eventual settlement retroactive to May 1 instead of paying the flat 11.5-cent increase.

Wheeling joined a smaller firm, Phoenix Steel Corp., as the only companies to agree to retroactive pay.

McDonald and Cooper said they would start working out plans immediately for further talks during the four months of grace.

Teachers Extend Michigan Sit-in

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP) — A sit-in demonstration by some 120 of 156 schoolteachers went into its second day today despite formal notice from the Hamtramck School Board that they are forfeiting their pension and retirement rights.

The demonstration by members of Local 1052, American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) was called to underscore their demands for higher pay. It closed six schools where some 4,000 students are enrolled.

A notice was handed to union officials Monday night saying that the 120 teachers were "deemed to have abandoned and terminated (their) employment with the Hamtramck School District."

Russia OKs French Arms Parley Call

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Union agreed today to a French proposal to call a five-power conference on disarmament to include the world's atomic powers, reliable French sources reported.

The sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko agreed to the French proposal in his second series of talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Such a conference would embrace the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Communist China and would exclude participation by nonatomic nations.

Gromyko emerged smiling from a 2½-hour meeting with Couve de Murville.

"We discussed today the problems relating to European security and especially concerning ways of regulating the German question. We also have discussed problems relating to the activities of the United Nations and certain questions on Franco-Russian relations," Gromyko said.

Gromyko declined to elaborate. French sources confirmed the Soviet visitor's description of the talks.

Sneeze Not Part Of New Symphony

NEW YORK (AP) — "That was not in the score," said Conductor Leopold Stokowski when two sneezes exploded in a Carnegie Hall audience just after the world premiere of Charles Ives' Fourth Symphony.

The explanation was apt. Ives' symphony has been called the most difficult ever written for performers.

Several sections of Monday night's unusually large orchestra played different rhythms and meters simultaneously, and it took three conductors to keep things running smoothly.

The American Symphony Orchestra's performance drew prolonged applause. Stokowski's explanation drew prolonged laughter.

"After this record the Soviet Union presumes to lecture the United States about aggression," he commented.

Stevenson listed what he described as Communist aggression in the Baltic states, Iran, Tibet, South Korea and India.

Adlai Labels Soviet Claim As Baseless

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson accused the Soviet Union Monday night of baseless attacks on U.S. policy in Viet Nam which he said virtually torpedoed any chance for a meaningful disarmament debate in the United Nations.

Stevenson told the 114-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission that in a speech lasting 53 minutes, Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko devoted only 36 seconds to disarmament.

"If this day's work is what the Soviet Union had in mind when it called this meeting, our worst fears would be confirmed that little will be accomplished here," Stevenson said.

The Soviet Union had asked for a meeting of the commission, on which all U.N. members have a seat, as a prelude to reconvening the 18-nation Disarmament Committee in Geneva.

Opening the public debate, Fedorenko delivered a blistering attack on U.S. foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam.

He said Britain and the United States were engaging in "nuclear blackmail" in Southeast Asia.

Stevenson listed what he described as Communist aggression in the Baltic states, Iran, Tibet, South Korea and India.

Cities in Illinois, Iowa Battle Worst Spring Flood

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The bloated Mississippi River churned through streets, homes and fields in Illinois and Iowa today, battering relentlessly at soggy dikes while volunteers fought the river's worst spring rampage in history.

Workers faced another day of trying to hold back the water in Burlington, Iowa. The Weather Bureau in a revised forecast said the river would crest at 22.5 feet in Burlington late Wednesday.

The Quad Cities area of Iowa and Illinois, with a population of 270,000, was hit again and again as the river howled over levees and rushed unimpeded into cities and fields.

More residents were removed from the area Monday. More than 3,000 persons have left their homes in Illinois. Damage has been estimated at $30 million by Gov. Otto Kerner.

In Iowa, Gov. Harold Hughes made an aerial tour of the stricken area and estimated damage at $50 million. Other estimates have gone as high as $200 million. More than 3,000 persons have abandoned their homes.

The river was six feet over the 15-foot flood stage in the Quad Cities area — Rock Island, Moline and East Moline in Illinois and Davenport in Iowa. At Rock Island, it stood at 21.7 feet.

The Mississippi surged over and through a crushed 4½-mile levee north of Burlington Monday and inundated 3,200 acres of farm land. Some 400 National Guardsmen who had been reinforcing the dike were ordered to withdraw. About 150 families had been removed from the area.

In Rock Island, volunteers struggled to keep intact a 3½-mile levee protecting a 300-home housing project. If the dike breaks, officials said up to six feet of water would flow into the project. Most of the 1,200 residents had abandoned their homes.

A small levee buckled late Monday on the northwest side of Rock Island, putting an industrial area under water.

A new problem plagued Rock Island officials: storm drains have begun backing up in the city of 51,000 population.

Solons OK Funds For Public Park

A resolution to establish a memorial park in Salt Creek Twp. and provide financial assistance for the project was adopted today by Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners.

The resolution designated the Salt Creek Town and Country Club as the agency to administer and maintain the recreational site. Land for the park, deeded to the county by heirs of John L. and Elizabeth Chilcote, consists of about three acres along Route 56 and the Stampf and Lutz Roads two miles northwest of Laurelville.

A motion to create the park was approved by the county solons on April 12. However, Commission Chairman Lloyd Melvin voted against the proposal then and again today.

Melvin said he feels the county is not qualified to go into the park business, especially when only one township is scheduled to get financial support. He said 14 other townships would be entitled to similar aid.

THE CHAIRMAN claimed more efforts should be made to acquire state assistance for the project. Solon Charles Morris Jr. remained firm on the opinion that the program should be undertaken with or without state aid, and that such assistance should be made available to any township in the county desiring it.

Provisions of today's resolution calls for the appropriation of $500 for the project in 1965 and the sum of $200 each year thereafter. This county money is to be used in construction and maintenance of the park.

Initial thoughts on the proposal recommended that the county provide $300 in aid each year after 1965. Solon Wayne Hines refused to cast an affirmative nod until the amount was reduced to $200. A motion to approve the resolution was offered by Commissioner Morris.

The enacted measure authorizes the land to be used as a public area, and to be known as "The Chilcote Memorial Park." It also grants the Chilcote heirs the right to erect a suitable monument at the site.

Members of the Town and Country Club have indicated they will work on the park as a community project. Details for actual erection are to be coordinated with the commissioners and with Claude Chilcote who is acting as agent for the heirs.

The bombardment started with three salvos and then there was a pause. The decision of the navy to join with the forces of Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin might be the turning point in the struggle for power.

Earlier, loyalist air force planes bombed an encampment of insurgents outside Santo Domingo.

The insurgents, who want to return ex-President Juan Bosch from Puerto Rico, barred outsiders from the encampment, preventing an assessment of damage.

As the fighting resumed, the U.S. Navy planned to evacuate about 500 Americans who want to escape from the island.

Loyalist planes flew over Santo Domingo, but did not resume the bombing and strafing attacks on Monday. The air raids and scattered clashes were reported to have killed at least 25 and wounded about 80.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Navy landing ship Raleigh would pick up some 250 tourists and about the same number of embassy personnel and dependents who had asked to leave. He emphasized that the evacuation was voluntary, that the Americans had not been ordered to leave.

The decision to set up the voluntary evacuation came after army rebels, seeking the return of exiled ex-President Juan Bosch, armed thousands of civilians in Santo Domingo.

Land for the park, deeded to the county by heirs of John L. and Elizabeth Chilcote, consists of about three acres along Route 56 and the Stumpf and Lutz Roads two miles northwest of Laurelsville.

A motion to create the park was approved by the county solons on April 12. However, Commission Chairman Lloyd Melvin voted against the proposal then and again today.

Melvin said he feels the county is not qualified to go into the park business, especially when only one township is scheduled to get financial support. He said 14 other townships would be entitled to similar aid.

THE CHAIRMAN claimed more efforts should be made to acquire state assistance for the project. Solon Charles Morris Jr. remained firm on the opinion that the program should be undertaken with or without state aid, and that such assistance should be made available to any township in the county desiring it.

Provisions of today's resolution calls for the appropriation of $500 for the project in 1965 and the sum of $200 each year thereafter. This county money is to be used in construction and maintenance of the park.

Initial thoughts on the proposal recommended that the county provide $300 in aid each year after 1965. Solon Wayne Hines refused to cast an affirmative nod until the amount was reduced to $200. A motion to approve the resolution was offered by Commissioner Morris.

The enacted measure authorizes the land to be used as a public area, and to be known as "The Chilcote Memorial Park." It also grants the Chilcote heirs the right to erect a suitable monument at the site.

Members of the Town and Country Club have indicated they will work on the park as a community project. Details for actual erection are to be coordinated with the commissioners and with Claude Chilcote who is acting as agent for the heirs.

Vertical Lift Plane Crashes

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An experimental vertical takeoff plane faltered in flight today then crashed and exploded in flames during a public demonstration witnessed by hundreds.

The chief engineering test pilot for Ryan Aeronautical Co. of San Diego, Lou Everett, ejected but his parachute failed to open and he was killed.

It was the strange-looking plane's first public flight.

The jet-powered plane took off vertically as planned and maneuvered over this desert test center. Then, at about 800 feet, while the pilot was switching from conventional jet power to flight supported by fans in wings and nose, at a speed of about 140 miles per hour, it went out of control and plunged straight down.

Had all gone well, the fans would have gently pancaked the craft to a landing.

Another of the so-called XV3A research craft was in the air at the time, piloted by Army test pilot William Anderson. It experienced no difficulties during its maneuvers.

The planes were supposed to rise straight up like a helicopter, hovering, darting sideways and flying forward at high speed.

Built for the Army by General Electric and Ryan, they are the newest in a series of jet and propeller craft being developed for vertical takeoff and landing. The jet craft that crashed took off vertically, using fans in its wings and nose for lifting power.

Some observers thought they saw something fall from the plane just before it crashed, but officials could not immediately confirm this.

Barry Backs LBJ's Policy In Viet Nam

PARIS (AP) — Barry Goldwater, defeated Republican presidential candidate in 1964, said today that he wholeheartedly backed the policies of President Johnson in South Viet Nam.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Anglo-American Press Association of Paris, Goldwater was asked if he agreed with Johnson's policies in South Viet Nam.

"I have to say yes, I must take the position that my President is right. It's the only right thing to do," he replied.

Goldwater said he did not believe that Red China would come into the Vietnamese conflict. And he said that he would not advocate the bombing of Chinese industrial installations unless there was well-defined Chinese provocation in Viet Nam.

He added, however, that he sometimes thought that if he were the president, "I would pray that Communist China would give us provocation to attack their nuclear possibility."

Ships Open Bombardment

500 Americans May Flee Island

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican navy lined up today against forces favoring the restoration of ex-president Juan Bosch and began a bombardment from ships lined up along the waterfront.

As the bombardment began, the radio stations in the capital suddenly went off the air. Most of them were broadcasting in networks with the government's radio Santo Domingo, seized by the pro-Bosch army insurgents.

The bombardment started with three salvoes and then there was a pause. The decision of the navy to join with the forces of Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin might be the turning point in the struggle for power.

Earlier, loyalist air force planes bombed an encampment of insurgents outside Santo Domingo.

The insurgents, who want to return ex-President Juan Bosch from Puerto Rico, barred outsiders from the encampment, preventing an assessment of damage.

As the fighting resumed, the U.S. Navy planned to evacuate about 500 Americans who want to escape from the island.

Loyalist planes flew over Santo Domingo, but did not resume the bombing and strafing attacks on Monday. The air raids and scattered clashes were reported to have killed at least 25 and wounded about 80.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Navy landing ship Raleigh would pick up some 250 tourists and about the same number of embassy personnel and dependents who had asked to leave. He emphasized that the evacuation was voluntary, that the Americans had not been ordered to leave.

The decision to set up the voluntary evacuation came after army rebels, seeking the return of exiled ex-President Juan Bosch, armed thousands of civilians in Santo Domingo.

WEST JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — A burglary who exchanged pistol shots with a village officer was the object of a widespread manhunt in Madison, Union and Franklin counties today.

Authorities said the officer, Patrolman Richard Clark, discovered a man trying to enter a lumber company's property here early Tuesday and exchanged shots with the man as he fled. No one was hurt. Sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and police of the three-county area were taking part in the search.

Million-Dollar Present For HST Being Sought

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A drive is under way for a million-dollar birthday present for Harry S. Truman.

The money would finance grants at the Harry S. Truman Library Institute for students doing research on the office of the president.

The institute's directors approved the idea last week when the former president was away. Truman will be 81 on May 8.

Steel Strike Delay Expected

Union Chief OKs New Pay Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A four-month steel strike reprieve was virtually certain today, lifting what the Johnson administration viewed as a disastrous threat to the nation's economy.

Ratification by the United Steelworkers Union and 10 major steel firms is expected to be a mere formality Wednesday, swapping a postponement of Saturday's 12:01 a.m. strike deadline for a pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

"This is a good day for the economy," said federal mediator William E. Simkin after union President David J. McDonald and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper put their initials on the agreement.

The stock market promptly rallied, canceling earlier losses, when the agreement was reported Monday.

McDonald emphasized the 11.5 cents is only the price the industry must pay for a strike delay and that the union still expects to win at least 17.9 cents an hour in wage gains.

Although the steel firms and the union's wage policy committee still must ratify the agreement, Simkin was so confident he planned to return to Washington today.

In exchange for the 11.5-cent pay raise for nearly half a million workers, McDonald agreed to drop the union's demand that any eventual settlement be retroactive to May 1 when present contracts expire.

He also said if final agreement is not reached by Aug. 31, "a strike or a lockout could occur."

One major firm, Wheeling Steel Corp., broke Big Steel's united front by agreeing earlier to make any eventual settlement retroactive to May 1 instead of paying the flat 11.5-cent increase.

Wheeling joined a smaller firm, Phoenix Steel Corp., as the only companies to agree to retroactive pay.

McDonald and Cooper said they would start working out plans immediately for further talks during the four months of grace.

Teachers Extend Michigan Sit-in

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP) — A sit-in demonstration by some 120 of 156 schoolteachers went into its second day today despite formal notice from the Hamtramck School Board that they are forfeiting their pension and retirement rights.

The demonstration by members of Local 1052, American Federation of Teachers (AFT-CIO) was called to underscore their demands for higher pay. It closed six schools where some 4,000 students are enrolled.

A notice was handed to union officials Monday night saying that the 120 teachers were "deemed to have abandoned and terminated (their) employment with the Hamtramck School District."

Santo Domingo's airport and port have been closed since Sunday.

An unknown number of persons were killed when a tank attacked and destroyed a police station.

Army troops passed out rifles and machine guns to an estimated 3,000 pro-Bosch civilians. More than 10,000 gasoline-bottle bombs fueled fire by gas stations were reported in the hands of civilians.

Armed civilians joined military patrols in the streets. Some threatened to shoot anyone opposed to the revolt. Some stores and factories, including a Pepsi Cola plant, were damaged.

Air force pilots opposed to Bosch's return repeatedly strafed rebel strongpoints in the capital Monday.

Army rebels on Sunday deposed the civilian junta which the military had installed after a military coup ousted Bosch in September 1963. It was the eighth government upheaval since assassination ended the 32-year reign of dictator Rafael Trujillo in May 1961.

Bosch took over Feb. 27, 1963, as the Caribbean island nation's first freely elected president in more than three decades. The military leaders who deposed him accused him of poor administration and letting Communists and Castroites infiltrate the government.

The ex-president, now 55, has been living in Puerto Rico.

Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, counter-revolutionary forces commander, proposed Monday that a military junta be formed to serve until elections in December in which Bosch and ex-President Joaquin Balaguer could participate. The army rebels apparently ignored the proposal.

Dr. Rafael Molina Urena, a Bosch lieutenant, was named by the rebel military chiefs to head a provisional government until Bosch could return to the presidency.

103 Kiwanis Members In Congress

A total of 103 Kiwanians are serving in the 89th Congress of the United States a recent survey has revealed.

The survey, undertaken at the time of Kiwanis' Golden Anniversary Year, showed 22 members of Kiwanis in the Senate and 81 members in the House of Representatives. This number constitutes about a sixth of the national legislature.

Charles Hart, President of the Kiwanis Club of Circleville, characterized this record as a dramatization of the traditional desire of Kiwanians to assume individual responsibility and to share in the burden of national state, and local problems. "The number of Kiwanians in the national legislature at the time of our Golden Anniversary marks an all time high," Hart said.

Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's senior senator, and William H. Harsha, who holds Ohio's sixth congressional district seat in the House of representatives are Kiwanians.

Michigan Builder To Head U.S. Chamber

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce named as its new president today Robert P. Gerholz, a Flint, Mich., builder.

His election to succeed Walter F. Carey of Birmingham, Mich., as head of the country's largest businessmen's organization was announced at the chamber's 43rd annual convention.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said fighting which began Monday morning around Bihar has stopped.

Despite the claims, it appeared Indian units also had been severely mauled in three days of fighting which began Saturday.

Pakistani units were reported holding points well within what India claims is its territory.

The Defense Ministry spokesman refused to comment on India's casualties, but they were reported heavy. Doctors in Bhuj, an Indian town southwest of the fighting, called for 1,000 blood donors.

Sketchy information released by the Indians indicated their units have been falling back since the fighting erupted Saturday at "Point 84," which is near the north-south road from Diplo, Pakistan, to Khavda, India.

There was intense activity by diplomats in New Delhi trying to get India and Pakistan to declare a cease-fire and talk over their territorial disputes.

U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles cut short a vacation in northern India to return to New Delhi. He met President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan this morning.

British Ambassador John Freeman met Foreign Secretary C. S. Jha Monday night.

In Pakistan, President Mohammed Ayub Khan urged India to join in negotiations to settle the "useless quarrel." But he warned of grave consequences if India failed to "understand the language of reason and continue to pursue a policy of brooding its neighbor."

Speaking at a public reception in Dacca, Ayub charged: "India is making a fuss about it. She had massed three brigades and built air bases and started naval exercises."

A Pakistan Foreign Office spokesman said before there can be a cease-fire, all Indian and Pakistani troops must withdraw from the 3,500 square miles of Kutch north of the 24th Parallel. This is claimed by Pakistan. India has rejected the withdrawal demand.

Mariner 4 Is Near to Space Mark

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Mariner 4 spacecraft seems likely to set a new space communication record Thursday although it still will have to hop a heap of hurdles before it succeeds in photographing Mars July 14.

It already has run into the worst space dust storm yet recorded. If it survives this, Mariner 4 faces a deadlier potential danger: a Martian radiation belt like that surrounding earth.

Now more than 63 million miles from earth after traveling 229 million miles along its curved flight path, Mariner 4 is scheduled to pass the 66-million-mile mark about 1 a.m. (PDT) Thursday.

That's the point at which the record-holding Soviet Mars 1 spacecraft stopped sending back signals March 21, 1963.

Mariner 4 has registered 77 hits by micrometeorites since its launching Nov. 28, compared with only two for Mariner 2 in a similar period of its trip to Venus in 1962. These hits were recorded on a 2-inch-diameter sensor. Scientists figure the whole 10x22-foot spacecraft has been scored by hundreds of times that many particles.

One of Mariner 4's six instruments has gone dead and another is not functioning well, but the rest of the 575-pound craft seems to be in good shape.

Intense radiation could damage Mariner 4's television camera, its transmitter or the solar panels which convert sunlight into electrical power for its instruments.

Business Briefs

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's sales for the first three months of 1965 were $201,646,000 or 8 per cent higher than sales of $186,873,000 for the comparable period of 1964. According to David G. Hill, president, first quarter sales were the highest in the company's history.

Net earnings for the first quarter increased 26 per cent to $11,041,000 equivalent to $1.04 per share, as compared to $8,752,000 or 82 cents per share in the same period of 1964.

Hill said that demand for the company's products continued at a high level during the quarter, and that this increased volume was reflected in improved earnings.

to a Saturday night speech in which Rusk labeled critics of the administration's policies as appeasers.

And he disputed a McNamara news conference statement which Morse said amounted to doubt that the Soviet Union and Communist China would enter the war.

"He has been so irresponsibly wrong for so long that any prediction McNamara makes about the future course of the war in Asia, in my judgment, should be discounted and completely discredited," Morse said.

Morse said he was "well aware of the unhappiness caused among the warmongers of the Johnson administration" by his criticism of Southeast Asian policies.

He added: "Let me say to the Johnson administration that no matter how many attacks they make on the senior senator from Oregon, my lips will not be closed."

Earlier Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, had told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention that "modern-day appeasers and isolationists" were undermining American policy.

Long said the most difficult task of the administration is to convince the enemy that the United States is determined to prevent communism from enveloping any free nation.

"Yet modern-day appeasers and isolationists are making our task difficult," he said. "The Communists are led to believe that we will surrender all of Asia to them without a nuclear showdown if they will just keep up the pressure . . ."

"Therefore, I have no doubt that our losses in Viet Nam will increase so long as anyone suspects that the handful of senators and congressmen and bearded beatniks with the peace-at-any-price placards represent anything more than a small, poorly regarded fragment of American thinking."

Election and installation of officers are on the agenda as well as presentation of an Elk of the Year award and announcement of Elk Hall of Fame winner.

The Elks' state ritualistic contest is also slated with lodges from Lima, Willard, Chillicothe, Columbus, Dover, Troy, Painesville and Warren participating.

Nearly 1,000 Elks and their wives representing 96 lodges in the state are expected to attend the four-day conclave according to Sam Fitzsimmons of Van Wert, state secretary-treasurer.

Stock Mart Prices Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were pacemakers in a rallying stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Extension of the steel strike deadline was the tonic which cheered Wall Street and especially those interested in buying steel stocks.

The steels ran up gains of a point or more on a broad front. Other groups such as autos, rubbers, rails, coppers, airlines, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments followed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 340.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .3 and utilities up .9. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.05 at 920.91 trimming a gain of 5.05.

Harriman Is Convinced Asian Reds 'Can't Win'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It may take a long time to convince them they can't win," W. Averell Harriman said today of the Communist fighting in Southeast Asia. "The firmer we are, the shorter the time will be. But the more voices that are raised in protest here against our firmness, the longer the time will be."

Harriman, who recently resigned as undersecretary of state to become a roving ambassador, has been chosen by President Johnson to represent the United States at a proposed conference on Cambodia.

If the conference is accepted by Communist China and North Viet Nam, a big part of Harriman's job will be to try to find out whether, when and how it may be possible to end the Vietnamese war. It is likely to be a tough, abrasive assignment, if it comes off, and few men would like to take it on at the age of 73.

But Harriman seldom fits conventional patterns. Around Washington, he is already something of a legend. He has probably held more high government positions than any man currently active — secretary of commerce, foreign aid director, governor of New York, ambassador to the Soviet Union, ambassador to Britain, undersecretary of state, and now, once more, ambassador-at-large, as he was in the first year of the Kennedy administration.

He is known for plain speech, which he said he learned from the examples of Sir Winston Churchill and President Harry S. Truman, whose directness he greatly admired. He also has a reputation for fighting for his views on policy.

Presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy once pinned the label "the crocodile" on him, because of his sharp comments in political conferences. Bundy's idea was that Harriman would snap an opponent's argument in two.

The central problem which in Harriman's view ties together the events and philosophy of his own long experience with the Communist world is what he calls "the outward thrust of communism."

That applies to the struggle in Southeast Asia now just as it did to the struggle to block Communist expansion in Europe more than 15 years ago.

"The Communists in Southeast Asia have got to get it through their minds that South Viet Nam is not a ripe plum that will fall to them," he said. "They cannot succeed there. We cannot appease them. It would be like letting Hitler march into the Rhineland in the 30s. It would be as if President Truman had failed to act in Korea in 1950."

"Southeast Asia cannot be treated as if it were detached from the outward thrust of communism."

Harriman said, "The Communists firmly believe that what they call wars of liberation will be victorious for them. They also believe those wars are something we can't deal with."

"I look upon what is happening in South Viet Nam as an ultimate expression of what the Communists intend to do in this respect. And just as we did in Europe, we've got to check the outward thrust of communism in Southeast Asia."

According to a spokesman for the NFO, the marketing has been very successful. But there is still room for improvement, they noted.

Vernon Stanke, new NFO organizer for the area, is taking over the post held formerly by William Davis of Monroe Twp.

Ohio NFO President Edward Sasy has taken a stand opposing the planting of soybeans on diverted crop acreage. He says this move for additional soybean acreage is a serious threat to the stability of the market.

NEW MEMBERSHIP in the NFO for the three-month period from January to March has been greater than in any other year, it was pointed out.

In Ohio a number of counties are reporting up to 40 new members.

Ohio now has 64 chartered counties and more to charter in the near future. NFO spokesmen say that Georgia makes the 26th state that NFO organizational work is being done in.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley said at the Fayette County NFO sausage supper the NFO is getting support from those who a short time ago opposed its efforts.

The next county meeting is set for 8 p. m. May 18 in the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

An unknown number of persons were killed when a tank attacked and destroyed a police station.

Army troops passed out rifles and machine guns to an estimated 3,000 pro-Bosch civilians. More than 10,000 gasoline-bottle bombs fueled fire by gas stations were reported in the hands of civilians.

Armed civilians joined military patrols in the streets. Some threatened to shoot anyone opposed to the revolt. Some stores and factories, including a Pepsi Cola plant, were damaged.

Air force pilots opposed to Bosch's return repeatedly strafed rebel strongpoints in the capital Monday.

Army rebels on Sunday deposed the civilian junta which the military had installed after a military coup ousted Bosch in September 1963. It was the eighth government upheaval since assassination ended the 32-year reign of dictator Rafael Trujillo in May 1961.

Bosch took over Feb. 27, 1963, as the Caribbean island nation's first freely elected president in more than three decades. The military leaders who deposed him accused him of poor administration and letting Communists and Castroites infiltrate the government.

The ex-president, now 55, has been living in Puerto Rico.

Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, counter-revolutionary forces commander, proposed Monday that a military junta be formed to serve until elections in December in which Bosch and ex-President Joaquin Balaguer could participate. The army rebels apparently ignored the proposal.

Dr. Rafael Molina Urena, a Bosch lieutenant, was named by the rebel military chiefs to head a provisional government until Bosch could return to the presidency.

103 Kiwanis Members In Congress

A total of 103 Kiwanians are serving in the 89th Congress of the United States a recent survey has revealed.

The survey, undertaken at the time of Kiwanis' Golden Anniversary Year, showed 22 members of Kiwanis in the Senate and 81 members in the House of Representatives. This number constitutes about a sixth of the national legislature.

Charles Hart, President of the Kiwanis Club of Circleville, characterized this record as a dramatization of the traditional desire of Kiwanians to assume individual responsibility and to share in the burden of national state, and local problems. "The number of Kiwanians in the national legislature at the time of our Golden Anniversary marks an all time high," Hart said.

Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's senior senator, and William H. Harsha, who holds Ohio's sixth congressional district seat in the House of representatives are Kiwanians.

Michigan Builder To Head U.S. Chamber

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce named as its new president today Robert P. Gerholz, a Flint, Mich., builder.

His election to succeed Walter F. Carey of Birmingham, Mich., as head of the country's largest businessmen's organization was announced at the chamber's 43rd annual convention.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said fighting which began Monday morning around Biar-Bet has stopped.

Despite the claims, it appeared Indian units also had been severely mauled in three days of fighting which began Saturday.

Pakistani units were reported holding points well within what India claims is its territory.

The Defense Ministry spokesman refused to comment on India's casualties, but they were reported heavy. Doctors in Bhuj, an Indian town southwest of the fighting, called for 1,000 blood donors.

Sketchy information released by the Indians indicated their units have been falling back since the fighting erupted Saturday at "Point 84," which is near the north-south road from Diplo, Pakistan, to Khavda, India.

There was intense activity by diplomats in New Delhi trying to get India and Pakistan to declare a cease-fire and talk over their territorial disputes.

U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles cut short a vacation in northern India to return to New Delhi. He met President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan this morning.

British Ambassador John Freeman met Foreign Secretary C. S. Jha Monday night.

In Pakistan, President Mohammed Ayub Khan urged India to join in negotiations to settle "the useless quarrel." But he warned of grave consequences if India failed to "understand the language of reason and continue to pursue a policy of browbeating its neighbor."

Speaking at a public reception in Dacca, Ayub charged: "India is making a fuss about it. She had massed three brigades and built air bases and started naval exercises."

A Pakistan Foreign Office spokesman said before there can be a cease-fire, all Indian and Pakistani troops must withdraw from the 3,500 square miles of Kutch north of the 24th Parallel. This is claimed by Pakistan. India has rejected the withdrawal demand.

Mariner 4 Is Near to Space Mark

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Mariner 4 spacecraft seems likely to set a new space communication record Thursday although it still will have to hop a heap of hurdles before it succeeds in photographing Mars July 14.

It already has run into the worst space dust storm yet recorded. If it survives this, Mariner 4 faces a deadlier potential danger: a Martian radiation belt like that surrounding earth.

Now more than 63 million miles from earth after traveling 229 million miles along its curved flight path, Mariner 4 is scheduled to pass the 66-million-mile mark about 1 a.m. (PDT) Thursday.

That's the point at which the record-holding Soviet Mars 1 spacecraft stopped sending back signals March 21, 1963.

Mariner 4 has registered 77 hits by micrometeorites since its launching Nov. 28, compared with only two for Mariner 2 in a similar period of its trip to Venus in 1962. These hits were recorded on a 2-inch-diameter sensor. Scientists figure the whole 10x22-foot spacecraft has been scored by hundreds of times that many particles.

One of Mariner 4's six instruments has gone dead and another is not functioning well, but the rest of the 575-pound craft seems to be in good shape.

Intense radiation could damage Mariner 4's television camera, its transmitter or the solar panels which convert sunlight into electrical power for its instruments.

Business Briefs

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's sales for the first three months of 1965 were $201,646,000 or 8 per cent higher than sales of $186,873,000 for the comparable period of 1964. According to David G. Hill, president, first quarter sales were the highest in the company's history.

Net earnings for the first quarter increased 26 per cent to $11,041,000 equivalent to $1.04 per share, as compared to $8,752,000 or 82 cents per share in the same period of 1964.

Hill said that demand for the company's products continued at a high level during the quarter, and that this increased volume was reflected in improved earnings.

to a Saturday night speech in which Rusk labeled critics of the administration's policies as appeasers.

And he disputed a McNamara news conference statement which Morse said amounted to doubt that the Soviet Union and Communist China would enter the war.

"He has been so irresponsibly wrong for so long that any prediction McNamara makes about the future course of the war in Asia, in my judgment, should be discounted and completely discredited," Morse said.

Morse said he was "well aware of the unhappiness caused among the warmongers of the Johnson administration" by his criticism of Southeast Asian policies.

He added: "Let me say to the Johnson administration that no matter how many attacks they make on the senior senator from Oregon, my lip will not be closed."

Earlier Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant Democratic leader, had told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention that "modern-day appeasers and isolationists" were undermining American policy.

Long said the most difficult task of the administration is to convince the enemy that the United States is determined to prevent communism from enveloping any free nation.

"Yet modern-day appeasers and isolationists are making our task difficult," he said. "The Communists are led to believe that we will surrender all of Asia to them without a nuclear showdown if they will just keep up the pressure . . ."

"Therefore, I have no doubt that our losses in Viet Nam will increase so long as anyone suspects that the handful of senators and congressmen and bearded beatniks with the peace-at-any-price placards represent anything more than a small, poorly regarded fragment of American thinking."

Ohio's Elks To Parley This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Plans have been completed for the 67th annual convention of the Ohio Elks Association in the Neil House here Thursday through Sunday.

Expected convention guests include Grand Exalted Ruler Robert G. Pruitt of Atlanta, Ga. Pruitt, who heads more than 1.3 million Elks in the nation, will also dedicate a new $180,000 Elks Lodge Building in Athens Wednesday.

A Youth Day luncheon will be held and outstanding students from all over Ohio will be feted on Saturday. Elk leadership and scholarship awards will be presented.

Election and installation of officers are on the agenda as well as presentation of an Elk of the Year award and announcement of Elk Hall of Fame winner.

The Elks' state ritualistic contest is also slated with lodges from Lima, Willard, Chillicothe, Columbus, Dover, Troy, Painesville and Warren participating.

Nearly 1,000 Elks and their wives representing 96 lodges in the state are expected to attend the four-day conclave according to Sam Fitzsimmons of Van Wert, state secretary-treasurer.

Stock Mart Prices Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were pacemakers in a rallying stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Extension of the steel strike deadline was the tonic which cheered Wall Street and especially those interested in buying steel stocks.

The steels ran up gains of a point or more on a broad front. Other groups such as autos, rubbers, rails, coppers, airlines, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments followed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 340.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .3 and utilities up .5.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.05 at 920.91 trimming a gain of 5.05.

Harriman Is Convinced Asian Reds 'Can't Win'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It may take a long time to convince them they can't win," W. Averell Harriman said today of the Communist fighting in Southeast Asia. "The firmer we are, the shorter the time will be. But the more voices that are raised in protest here against our firmness, the longer the time will be."

Harriman, who recently resigned as undersecretary of state to become a roving ambassador, has been chosen by President Johnson to represent the United States at a proposed conference on Cambodia.

If the conference is accepted by Communist China and North Viet Nam, a big part of Harriman's job will be to try to find out whether, when and how it may be possible to end the Vietnamese war. It is likely to be a tough, abrasive assignment, if it comes off, and few men would like to take it on at the age of 73.

But Harriman seldom fits conventional patterns. Around Washington, he is already something of a legend. He has probably held more high government positions than any man currently active — secretary of commerce, foreign aid director, governor of New York, ambassador to the Soviet Union, ambassador to Britain, undersecretary of state, and now, once more, ambassador-at-large, as he was in the first year of the Kennedy administration.

He is known for plain speech, which he said he learned from the examples of Sir Winston Churchill and President Harry S. Truman, whose directness he greatly admired. He also has a reputation for fighting for his views on policy.

Presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy once pinned the label "the crocodile" on him, because of his sharp comments in political conferences. Bundy's idea was that Harriman would snap an opponent's argument in two.

The central problem which in Harriman's view ties together the events and philosophy of his own long experience with the Communist world is what he calls "the outward thrust of communism."

That applies to the struggle in Southeast Asia now just as it did to the struggle to block Communist expansion in Europe more than 15 years ago.

"The Communists in Southeast Asia have got to get it through their minds that South Viet Nam is not a ripe plum that will fall to them," he said. "They cannot succeed there. We cannot appease them. It would be like letting Hitler march into the Rhineland in the 30s. It would be as if President Truman had failed to act in Korea in 1950."

"Southeast Asia cannot be treated as if it were detached from the outward thrust of communism."

Harriman said, "The Communists firmly believe that what they call wars of liberation will be victorious for them. They also believe those wars are something we can't deal with. 'I look upon what is happening in South Viet Nam as an ultimate expression of what the Communists intend to do in this respect. And just as we did in Europe, we've got to check the outward thrust of communism in Southeast Asia."

NFO Chapter Studies Hog Marketing

The Pickaway County Chapter of the National Farmers Organization discussed marketing arrangements and concentrated sale of NFO hogs at the Union Stock Yards Co. outlets during its monthly meeting.

According to a spokesman for the NFO, the marketing has been very successful. But there is still room for improvement, they noted.

Vernon Stanke, new NFO organizer for the area, is taking over the post held formerly by William Davis of Monroe Twp.

Ohio NFO President Edward Sasy has taken a stand opposing the planting of soybeans on diverted crop acreage. He says this move for additional soybean acreage is a serious threat to the stability of the market.

NEW MEMBERSHIP in the NFO for the three-month period from January to March has been greater than in any other year, it was pointed out. In Ohio a number of counties are reporting up to 40 new members.

Ohio now has 64 chartered counties and more to charter in the near future. NFO spokesmen say that Georgia makes the 26th state that NFO organizational work is being done in. NFO President Oren Lee Stanley said at the Fayette County NFO sausage supper the NFO is getting support from those who a short time ago opposed its efforts.

The next county meeting is set for 8 p. m. May 18 in the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

EROSION — This photograph of an incomplete waterway illustrates the damage that can be caused by excessive rainfall. Don Archer, Pickaway soil conservationist, pointed out that not only was the waterway badly eroded by the rain, but also a drainage ditch below the waterway was filled with silt.

Now Is Time To Check Fields for Erosion Damage

"Now is the time for landowners to check the damage to their fields caused by water," says Donald Archer, Pickaway soil conservationist.

Archer points out that soil erosion can be stopped by many soil conservation measures. Some of these methods are surface drainage, open ditches, structures, grass waterways and tile.

According to the Pickaway conservationist, a landowner should make notes now of damage caused by running water. These can be used for reference when repairs and preventive measures are taken.

"Our topsoil is part of our county's wealth," Archer states. "When it leaves, we have less food, less space to live and our wealth leaves with it."

"It also silts the streams and rivers, which are becoming open sewers across the country now," he noted.

Landowners and farmers with erosion problems are invited to contact the local Soil Conservation office for assistance in planning control measures.

5 Firemen Injured

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Five Warren firemen suffered minor injuries fighting a blaze in a home here Monday. The fire caused extensive damage to the home of Mrs. Julie Johnson.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson likes to think he is expressing an American consensus when he does something. But he is running into some divided opinion on his policy in Viet Nam.

He is sensitive to criticism but he is being criticized on what is happening in Southeast Asia. Among the critics: some students, some professors, some segments of the press, some members of Congress, particularly in his own Democratic party.

But he is getting it from the Communists, too. Red China's premier, Chou En-lai, branded Johnson's call for "unconditional discussions" on Viet Nam a "plot." The Soviet Union says the United States is threatening Southeast Asia with "nuclear blackmail."

Recently Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested a temporary halt in the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam in an effort to encourage the Reds to negotiate.

After that members of Fulbright's committee staff said they got hundreds of letters and that 90 per cent of them supported his proposal.

But former President Dwight D. Eisenhower fully supports Johnson, and so does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Johnson has had vigorous support from the Senate's Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

This is a switch from what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the early days of the Korean War when it was going badly. Republicans were on his back. But in all this one point may get overlooked.

Johnson got a blank check from Congress last Aug. 7 to do what he is doing. At that time both houses approved a resolution giving the President approval in advance for any action he might take in the Southeast Asia crisis.

The House voted 416 to 0 for this, the Senate 88 to 2. The two dissenters were Democrats, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska. They are now two of his most persistent critics, particularly Morse.

Monday, Morse denounced American policy in Viet Nam, calling it "immoral and godless." He said Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara should have been removed long ago.

Gruening complains Johnson is being advised by warhawks and called the situation "hopeless."

The Johnson administration, stinging under all this, is reacting. Monday, McNamara held a news conference to explain what is happening. Last week Rusk, in a speech, charged critics of the U.S. policy with talking "nonsense."

Johnson was to hold a news conference today. The State Department says it is stepping up speech-making appearances by foreign policy officers to discuss Viet Nam in response to mounting requests from around the country.

In all this some of the basic positions on both sides get lost. The Johnson position, put out by the State Department, goes like this:

The problem is Communist aggression and the South Vietnamese asked American help; the United States will pull out when the Reds decide to leave their neighbors alone; to pull out before then would be throwing 14 million South Vietnamese to the mercy of communism; Communist aggression is worldwide and if the Reds are allowed to succeed in Southeast Asia, they'll move again soon somewhere else.

This statement, by accusing the Communists of aggression, repudiates the critics' argument that the war in Viet Nam is just a civil war. And it takes the position that the United States must try to stop Communist expansion.

Some of the criticism is emotional, some is based on moral revulsion to the American bombing. One of the most distinguished critics is Hans J. Morgenthau, director of the Center for the Study of American Foreign and Military Policy at the University of Chicago.

He takes the position that by containing communism in Asia this country is only assuming it is containing the communism of China. He argues the North Vietnamese Reds will become Red China's satellite only if this country forces them to.

But this is a mighty big assumption all by itself, since Morgenthau isn't in a position to say that, if the United States pulled out, Red China wouldn't sooner or later engulf all of Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia.

Cleveland's Harbor Ready For Shipping

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland launches its shipping season this year with an improved harbor, an office in Europe and plans for an early summer start on construction of a new three berth general dock.

The overseas office which was opened in Brussels in January should pump increased foreign trade into this Lake Erie port, according to Earle B. Butler, commissioner of harbors.

A major harbor improvement was completed when the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers finished dredging in the East Basin to extend the 27-foot St. Lawrence Seaway channel depth to general docks there.

Construction of the three-berth general dock will start early in the summer, Butler said, and should be ready for the 1966 shipping season. Butler said the dock will be built on 15 acres of land purchased from the Pennsylvania Railroad. The tract is located near the West 6th Street pier.

"There certainly have been problems," Butler said, referring to the port's struggle "But they are being overcome and progress made in the past two years has been a jump forward he added."

EROSION — This photograph of an incomplete waterway illustrates the damage that can be caused by excessive rainfall. Don Archer, Pickaway soil conservationist, pointed out that not only was the waterway badly eroded by the rain, but also a drainage ditch below the waterway was filled with silt.

Now Is Time To Check Fields for Erosion Damage

"Now is the time for landowners to check the damage to their fields caused by water," says Donald Archer, Pickaway soil conservationist.

Archer points out that soil erosion can be stopped by many soil conservation measures. Some of these methods are surface drainage, open ditches, structures, grass waterways and tile.

According to the Pickaway conservationist, landowner should make notes now of damage caused by running water. These can be used for reference when repairs and preventive measures are taken.

"Our topsoil is part of our county's wealth," Archer states. "When it leaves, we have less food, less space to live and our wealth leaves with it."

"It also silts the streams and rivers, which are becoming open sewers across the country now," he noted.

Landowners and farmers with erosion problems are invited to contact the local Soil Conservation office for assistance in planning control measures.

5 Firemen Injured

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Five Warren firemen suffered minor injuries fighting a blaze in a home here Monday. The fire caused extensive damage to the home of Mrs. Julie Johnson.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson likes to think he is expressing an American consensus when he does something. But he is running into some divided opinion on his policy in Viet Nam.

He is sensitive to criticism but he is being criticized on what is happening in Southeast Asia. Among the critics: some students, some professors, some segments of the press, some member of Congress, particularly in his own Democratic party.

But he is getting it from the Communists, too. Red China's premier, Chou En-lai, branded Johnson's call for "unconditional discussions" on Viet Nam a "plot." The Soviet Union says the United States is threatening Southeast Asia with "nuclear blackmail."

Recently Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested a temporary halt in the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam in an effort to encourage the Reds to negotiate.

After that members of Fulbright's committee staff said they got hundreds of letters and that 90 per cent of them supported his proposal.

But former President Dwight D. Eisenhower fully supports Johnson, and so does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Johnson has had vigorous support from the Senate's Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

This is a switch from what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the early days of the Korean War when it was going badly. Republicans were on his back. But in all this one point may get overlooked.

Johnson got a blank check from Congress last Aug. 7 to do what he is doing. At that time both houses approved a resolution giving the President approval in advance for any action he might take in the Southeast Asia crisis.

The House voted 416 to 0 for this, the Senate 88 to 2. The two dissenters were Democrats, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska. They are now two of his most persistent critics, particularly Morse.

Monday, Morse denounced American policy in Viet Nam, calling it "immoral and godless." He said Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara should have been removed long ago.

Gruening complains Johnson is being advised by warhawks and called the situation "hopeless."

'Prudent' Tax Cuts

The House Ways and Means Committee is scheduled to start work next month on reducing or repealing some excise taxes. And by way of prefacing the committee's deliberations, the administration has asked it to go easy. Treasury Secretary Fowler warns against "excessive" cuts.

In his January budget message, Mr. Johnson called for "prudent" action. He did not go into detail as to where he thought the pruning should be done, but he placed a $1.75 billion ceiling on the cuts.

The President asked repeal of the $500 million in "nuisance" taxes collected annually at retail on jewelry, furs, cosmetics, luggage and handbags.

These were among the "temporary" levies imposed to help finance the Korean War.

Congress is under pressure from both business and consumer groups, and the limit on total reductions set by Mr. Johnson seems certain to be exceeded. Estimates of the figure on the final bill now range up to $4.5 billion.

Those who worry that a cut as high as $4.5 billion contains inflationary dangers seem unconcerned about the activities of unions on the wage front, which are much more likely to boost inflation.

Repeal of some excise taxes has been overdue since the end of the Korean War in 1953.

Reporter Heads for Third War

By Hal Boyle

EN ROUTE TO SAIGON (AP)—Many firms have a policy of rewarding employees after long service.

So does mine. On completing 30 years at the same old typewriter stand, I was summoned by an executive who told me:

"We are giving you a free two-month trip, all expenses paid. Where do you think is the worst place in the world to be right now?"

"Viet Nam," I replied without hesitation. "Well, isn't that a strange coincidence?" exclaimed my kindly superior. "That's the very place we got you a ticket to."

Then he added as an afterthought: "Better get over there as soon as you can. The monsoon season is about to start — and you certainly wouldn't want to miss that."

So it was that I learned I had volunteered to help cover a third war. The others were World War II and our "police action" in Korea.

When I informed friends that I was going to Viet Nam they were of two opinions. Some said they envied me, because they felt sure it would be an interesting and educational assignment. The others, whose views I happen to prize more highly, simply said, "You must be out of your mind."

A friendly cab driver to whom I confided my mission had still a different reaction. Turning and looking critically at my thinning hair and bulging waistline, he shook his head and remarked:

"Gee, now I'm really worried I didn't know the situation out there was that desperate. Lyndon Johnson sure is scraping the bottom of our manpower barrel."

The first action in approaching any war is always a battle with red tape. It took two weeks and 12 dull needles to go through a series of medical shots protecting against smallpox, plague, cholera — and practically everything else except the inconvenience of sudden metallic ventilation. Modern medicine doesn't seem to have a wonder drug to prevent that.

Then you have to go to the Viet Nam Embassy in Washington, D.C., for a visitor's visa. Then you drop by the Pentagon for a chocolate milkshake, a briefing, and a wallet identity card from the Department of Defense which warns our public information officers abroad that you are a newsman.

I flew on then to Kansas City, Mo., to say goodbye to my 77-year-old mother. I thought I would have to console her, but actually she consoled me. I guess we have had so many farewells over the years that parting from each other has become a way of life for us.

"Son, I know that what's happening over there is terribly important to us," she said. "I just hope you can explain so that I can understand it. It all seems so mixed up."

As I kissed her at the door, her eyes flooded and she poured out a torrent of last-minute maternal advice:

"Don't forget your vitamin pills. Stay out of the hot sun and those jungles and rice paddies. Don't get your feet wet, get plenty of rest, and you'll be all right."

Then began the long and lonely around-the-clock flight to far-off Saigon.

There I hope to spend as much time as I can with the American men stationed with our different services in Viet Nam, and write for their folks back home the nature of their job and how they feel about it.

In war, what happens to the men who pull the triggers is always more humanly interesting than where the bullets go or the bombs fall.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Can't you forget you're a throat specialist for a minute?"

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

By Blake

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Most parents recall with horror their own tonsil operation. Fear and terror grips them even today as they think back on the confusion and fright and loneliness of that period in the hospital.

If your child is one of the thousands who will soon be going to the hospital for a tonsil and adenoid operation, you are probably filled with anxiety when you think of your own experience.

Fortunately, a great deal has been learned in recent years, about children's feelings... before, during and after an operation.

Hard as it may be for some parents to believe, children can now be prepared for their operation so that they have little or no fear, and little or no emotional hurt afterwards.

How is this done? By being honest with your child. By telling him calmly ahead of time the truth about his operation. By sharing with him the reason for the surgery so that it makes sense to him.

It is the unknown that frightens children. That is why the child who is told nothing ahead of time (or worse, that he will enjoy the experience) is the child who suffers the terror, the nightmares and feels distrust for his parents. Often these neuroticisms carry over into adult life, as many of you parents know.

The unprepared child feels that he is a helpless victim in the hands of grownups who have betrayed him. On the other hand, the child

Havana's Conquest

By John Chamberlain

Back in the late Eighteen Nineties, at the crest of the Spanish-American War excitement, America's pioneer sociologist, William Graham Sumner, enraged a lot of people by delivering a bitter speech called "The Conquest of the United States by Spain." Sumner's idea was that, by fighting Spain over Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines, the U. S. had gone over to the imperialist standards of the enemy.

Well, it didn't turn out that way; the U. S. eventually freed the Philippines, turned Cuba over to its own politicians, and gave Puerto Rico the American equivalent of what the British call dominion status. And today, if Sumner were still alive and able to express his outrage, he would probably be rewriting his speech under the title of "The Conquest of the United States by Havana."

We are being conquered by Havana — Castro's Havana — because we are more and more threatened by that bane of Latin American political life, the control of parties by student cliques who want to make laws and run governments before they have even completed their undergraduate studies. They want to perform operations before they have been interns; they want to make history even before they have lived it.

The ten or fifteen thousand students who turned up in Washington, D. C., the other day to inform the White House that we must get out of Vietnam have a perfect right to their opinions, and it is good to see that they are not committed to such assorted juvenilities as swallowing goldfish, toppling portable telephone booths, and conducting panty raids on girls' dormitories. But by what principle of rationality do they assume they are entitled to sway public opinion before they have had the opportunity to travel, to make comparative studies of Communist and western economies, or to examine the relative forms of corruption in such diverse spots on the globe as Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnam, Mao Tse-tung's China, Kadar's Hungary, and the western capitalist states that are admittedly imperfect on occasion in their approaches to complete justice?

It is good that we now have a student generation that wants to be "committed," to use a favorite campus expression. But commitment implies that you first make some effort to know what you are talking about. The students who turn out to march in domestic civil rights protests have some claim to knowledge; after all, racial discrimination, as it is practiced in places in the United States, can be observed on the spot.

But how many of the ten or fifteen thousand students who are parading for the "get out of South Vietnam" cause have ever had the least experience with Communists? How many of them have ever pondered the comparative statistics of political murder as it has been practiced in certain foreign lands? Does the post-World War II movement of refugees across boundaries mean anything to the marching students? How are they to explain the fact that nearly one million Vietnamese fled from North Vietnam to take up residence in South Vietnam when Ho Chi Minh riveted Communist control over the upper half of what had been French Indo-China? How do they explain East Germany's loss of population in the days when there was no Berlin Wall? And what system of moral accountability do they use when they say that Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese are "corrupt," presumably because some of them stole money and peddled influence, while the government of Mao Tse-tung is "pure" even though it has slaughtered fifty million dissident Chinese over the years to maintain its power?

The William Graham Sumner who spoke of "The Conquest of the United States by Spain" would surely rewrite his speech under the new title of "The Conquest of the United States by Havana" because our parading students, like those who were Fidel Castro's classmates in the Cuba of twenty years ago, have succumbed to "The excessive degeneration of democracy" that is "sansculottism" (unthinking radicalism). Said Sumner: "As a political form this is the rule of a street mob."

Thomas Marshall once said that what this country needs is a good five-cent cigar. I think what this country needs is some students who study.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is the time when most homeowners improve their property. It's also the time when swindlers step up their efforts.

More than $13 billion will be spent this year on home improvements.

And the National Better Business Bureau estimates that home improvement confidence men cheat the public out of $500 million a year.

The bureau says that the overwhelming majority of contractors and dealers serve the public with honest values. It's the chiseling few on the fringe of the industry who try to exploit the inexperienced and the gullible.

You can recognize some fly-by-night gyps by their approach. The faker knocking at your door may be a roofer or a driveway paver but the pitch is the same: "I just finished a job nearby, have materials left over and can do work for you at a big saving." But is it a saving, and where will you find him if trouble develops?

Pressure to sign contracts quickly is a common tactic of other gyps. They dazzle prospects with routines such as: "Display home." A swindler specializing in siding proposes a "below cost" installation for "demonstration" purposes and promises commissions on sales to others. But he never returns and all that's demonstrated is a case of overpayment.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt Central Press Writer

Hippopotamus meat may soon be on its way to dinner tables in America, if present plans work out, according to a dispatch from the Uganda in Africa. The average adult hippo weighing from three to four tons, this certainly sounds like a big deal.

Since it's estimated that a hippo can furnish about 2,000 cans of meat, each of the big-mouthed beasts is a virtual supermarket in itself.

Folk who've tasted hippo claim the meat is a gourmet's delight. Hard to imagine such an ugly critter becoming a beautiful meal.

The hippopotamus got its name from the old Greeks and Romans — hippo (for horse) and potamus (for river). If those ancient mistook the always bathing behemoths for horses they must, indeed have been plenty near-sighted.

The hippopotamus looks like an overgrown pig and, like swine, dearly loves to wallow in mud puddles. But there the resemblance ends — a hippo is a quiet, retiring animal, never getting porky or ever acting like a ham.

'Prudent' Tax Cuts

The House Ways and Means Committee is scheduled to start work next month on reducing or repealing some excise taxes. And by way of prefacing the committee's deliberations, the administration has asked it to go easy. Treasury Secretary Fowler warns against "excessive" cuts.

In his January budget message, Mr. Johnson called for "prudent" action. He did not go into detail as to where he thought the pruning should be done, but he placed a $1.75 billion ceiling on the cuts.

The President asked repeal of the $500 million in "nuisance" taxes collected annually at retail on jewelry, furs, cosmetics, luggage and handbags.

These were among the "temporary" levies imposed to help finance the Korean War.

Congress is under pressure from both business and consumer groups, and the limit on total reductions set by Mr. Johnson seems certain to be exceeded. Estimates of the figure on the final bill now range up to $4.5 billion.

Those who worry that a cut as high as $4.5 billion contains inflationary dangers seem unconcerned about the activities of unions on the wage front, which are much more likely to boost inflation.

Repeal of some excise taxes has been overdue since the end of the Korean War in 1953.

Reporter Heads for Third War

By Hal Boyle

EN ROUTE TO SAIGON (AP).—Many firms have a policy of rewarding employees after long service.

So does mine. On completing 30 years at the same old typewriter stand, I was summoned by an executive who told me:

"We are giving you a free two-month trip, all expenses paid. Where do you think is the worst place in the world to be right now?"

"Viet Nam," I replied without hesitation.

"Well, isn't that a strange coincidence?" exclaimed my kindly superior. "That's the very place we got you a ticket to."

Then he added as an afterthought:

"Better get over there as soon as you can. The monsoon season is about to start — and you certainly wouldn't want to miss that."

So it was that I learned I had volunteered to help cover a third war. The others were World War II and our "police action" in Korea.

When I informed friends that I was going to Viet Nam they were of two opinions. Some said they envied me, because they felt sure it would be an interesting and educational assignment. The others, whose views I happen to prize more highly, simply said, "You must be out of your mind."

A friendly cab driver to whom I confided my mission had still a different reaction. Turning and looking critically at my thinning hair and bulging waistline, he shook his head and remarked:

"Gee, now I'm really worried I didn't know the situation out there was that desperate. Lyndon Johnson sure is scraping the bottom of our manpower barrel."

The first action in approaching any war is always a battle with red tape. It took two weeks and 12 dull needles to go through a series of medical shots protecting against smallpox, plague, cholera — and practically everything else except the inconvenience of sudden metallic ventilation. Modern medicine doesn't seem to have a wonder drug to prevent that.

Then you have to go to the Viet Nam Embassy in Washington, D.C., for a visitor's visa. Then you drop by the Pentagon for a chocolate milkshake, a briefing, and a wallet identity card from the Department of Defense which warns our public information officers abroad that you are a newsman.

I flew on then to Kansas City, Mo., to say goodbye to my 77-year-old mother. I thought I would have to console her, but actually she consoled me. I guess we have had so many farewells over the years that parting from each other has become a way of life for us.

"Son, I know that what's happening over there is terribly important to us," she said. "I just hope you can explain so that I can understand it. It all seems so mixed up."

As I kissed her at the door, her eyes flooded and she poured out a torrent of last-minute maternal advice:

"Don't forget your vitamin pills. Stay out of the hot sun and those jungles and rice paddies. Don't get your feet wet, get plenty of rest, and you'll be all right."

Then began the long and lonely around-the-clock flight to far-off Saigon.

There I hope to spend as much time as I can with the American men stationed with our different services in Viet Nam, and write for their folks back home the nature of their job and how they feel about it. In war, what happens to the men who pull the triggers is always more humanly interesting than where the bullets go or the bombs fall.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Most parents recall with horror their own tonsil operation. Fear and terror grips them even today as they think back on the confusion and fright and loneliness of that period in the hospital.

If your child is one of the thousands who will soon be going to the hospital for a tonsil and adenoid operation, you are probably filled with anxiety when you think of your own experience.

Fortunately, a great deal has been learned in recent years, about children's feelings... before, during and after an operation.

Hard as it may be for some parents to believe, children can now be prepared for their operation so that they have little or no fear, and little or no emotional hurt afterwards.

How is this done? By being honest with your child. By telling him calmly ahead of time the truth about his operation. By sharing with him the reason for the surgery so that it makes sense to him.

It is the unknown that frightens children. That is why the child who is told nothing ahead of time (or worse, that he will enjoy the experience) is the child who suffers the terror, the nightmares and feels distrust for his parents. Often these neuroticisms carry over into adult life, as many of you parents know.

The unprepared child feels that he is a helpless victim in the hands of grownups who have betrayed him. On the other hand, the child who is prepared properly feels that he is a part of, instead of a victim of, his operation. He knows the operation is for his own good, and takes it in stride. He goes home to a happy, uneventful recovery.

Experts in child development feel that the tonsil operation then actually becomes a constructive growth experience of childhood.

These rules should help you prepare your child for his tonsillectomy. The same rules may be adapted for other surgery as well.

- 1) Most important, be truthful with your child. Do not lie to him or deceive him.
- 2) Do not let him see your anxiety. If you are relaxed, he will be, too.
- 3) Give him the reason for his operation. Tell him he will have fewer colds and sore throats.
- 4) Tell him that the operation will not hurt because he will be fast asleep.
- 5) He should be told to expect a sore throat afterwards, but that everyday it will feel better and better.
- 6) Try to arrange to be with your child as much as possible. Surgeons and hospitals are becoming more and more aware of the benefits of overnight privileges, or longer visiting hours, for parents.

("A Visit to the Hospital", written by Francine Chase under the supervision of Dr. Coleman, is a children's story book that is helpful in preparing children for their hospital experience.)

Havana's Conquest

By John Chamberlain

Back in the late Eighteen Nineties, at the crest of the Spanish - American War excitement, America's pioneer sociologist, William Graham Sumner, enraged a lot of people by delivering a bitter speech called "The Conquest of the United States by Spain." Sumner's idea was that, by fighting Spain over Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines, the U. S. had gone over to the imperialist standards of the enemy.

Well, it didn't turn out that way; the U. S. eventually freed the Philippines, turned Cuba over to its own politicians, and gave Puerto Rico the American equivalent of what the British call dominion status. And today, if Sumner were still alive and able to express his outrage, he would probably be rewriting his speech under the title of "The Conquest of the United States by Havana."

We are being conquered by Havana — Castro's Havana — because we are more and more threatened by that bane of Latin American political life, the control of parties by student cliques who want to make laws and run governments before they have even completed their undergraduate studies. They want to perform operations before they have been interns; they want to make history even before they have lived it.

The ten or fifteen thousand students who turned up in Washington, D. C., the other day to inform the White House that we must get out of Vietnam have a perfect right to their opinions, and it is good to see that they are not committed to such assorted juvenilities as swallowing goldfish, topping portable telephone booths, and conducting panty raids on girls' dormitories. But by what principle of rationality do they assume they are entitled to sway public opinion before they have had the opportunity to travel, to make comparative studies of Communist and western economies, or to examine the relative forms of corruption in such diverse spots on the globe as Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnam, Mao Tse-tung's China, Kadar's Hungary, and the western capitalist states that are admittedly imperfect on occasion in their approaches to complete justice?

It is good that we now have a student generation that wants to be "committed," to use a favorite campus expression. But commitment implies that you first make some effort to know what you are talking about. The students who turn out to march in domestic civil rights protests have some claim to knowledge; after all, racial discrimination, as it is practiced in places in the United States, can be observed on the spot.

But how many of the ten or fifteen thousand students who are parading for the "get out of South Vietnam" cause have ever had the least experience with Communists? How many of them have ever pondered the comparative statistics of political murder as it has been practiced in certain foreign lands? Does the post-World War II movement of refugees across boundaries mean anything to the marching students? How are they to explain the fact that nearly one million Vietnamese fled from North Vietnam to take up residence in South Vietnam when Ho Chi Minh riveted Communist control over the upper half of what had been French Indo-China? How do they explain East Germany's loss of population in the days when there was no Berlin Wall? And what system of moral accountability do they use when they say that Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese are "corrupt," presumably because some of them stole money and peddled influence, while the government of Mao Tse-tung is "pure" even though it has slaughtered fifty million dissident Chinese over the years to maintain its power?

The William Graham Sumner who spoke of "The Conquest of the United States by Spain" would surely rewrite his speech under the new title of "The Conquest of the United States by Havana" because our parading students, like those who were Fidel Castro's classmates in the Cuba of twenty years ago, have succumbed to "The excessive degeneration of democracy" that is "sansculottism" (unthinking radicalism). Said Sumner: "As a political form this is the rule of a street mob."

Thomas Marshall once said that what this country needs is a good five-cent cigar. I think what this country needs is some students who study.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is the time when most home-owners improve their property. It's also the time when swindlers step up their efforts.

More than $13 billion will be spent this year on home improvements.

And the National Better Business Bureau estimates that home improvement confidence men cheat the public out of $500 million a year.

The bureau says that the overwhelming majority of contractors and dealers serve the public with honest values. It's the chiseling few on the fringe of the industry who try to exploit the inexperienced and the gullible.

You can recognize some fly-by-night gyps by their approach. The faker knocking at your door may be a roofer or a driveway paver but the pitch is the same: "I just finished a job nearby, have materials left over and can do work for you at a big saving." But it is a saving, and where will you find him if trouble develops?

Pressure to sign contracts quickly is a common tactic of other gyps. They dazzle prospects with routines such as:

"Display home." A swindler specializing in siding proposes a "below cost" installation for "demonstration" purposes and promises commissions on sales to others. But he never returns and all that's demonstrated is a case of overpayment.

"Bait-and-switch." A trickster dealing in carpentry advertises an extremely low price, then adroitly knocks the "bargain" and plays up a so-called better model. By the time the buyer finds he has overpaid for an inferior job the gyp has moved on.

There is no shortage of potential victims.

How to avoid the gyps and end up with the enduring kind of improvements that provides lasting benefits?

Know the reputation of your contractor or dealer, says the Better Business Bureau. If in doubt, you can check the firm's standing with the bureau, the Chamber of Commerce or your own bank.

Having carefully made the right choice from the right dealer, the buyer then may go wrong by turning to a financing outfit that will trap him with costly hidden charges.

Money for home improvements is available from many sources at fair rates. About 80 per cent of all such financing is extended by banks, according to the American Banking Association.

Assembly Bill Would Clarify School Setup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills designed to clarify Ohio's Formula and to discourage payment of welfare funds to parents of illegitimate children were up for introduction today in the Ohio House.

Rep. B. A. Broughton, R-Geauga, chairman of the House Education Committee, and several other Republicans are sponsoring the School Foundation bill which also would provide an additional $91 million in state school funds in the 1965-67 biennium.

The measure reportedly has the backing of the administration.

It would make permanent in the law a $200 annual teacher pay hike proposed for the 1965-67 biennium only in the governor's $1.4 billion general appropriations bill. It also would hike minimum salary schedules for teachers by $500-$700.

Reps. Robert Netzel, R-Miami, and Sam Landes, R-Madison, who were to offer the proposal involving unwed parents, conceded that the bill would "bring the wrath of social social workers down on us."

They said in a joint statement the legislature must "face up to the issue that illegitimacy is being encouraged by the present provisions of ADC (Aid to Dependent Children)."

Their bill would change the law so that children born out of wedlock after Jan. 1, 1966, could not receive aid if another child in the same family is receiving aid.

"We are compounding the problem if a mother knows the additional children she bears out of wedlock will be supported by the state," the two lawmakers added.

The return of the legislature from weekend recess was marked by introduction of another flock of bills and a sudden end to an investigation of charges that the Legislative Service Commission had been infiltrated by politics.

The 14-member commission, fact-finding arm of the general assembly, ended its second hearing on the charges and approved a vote of confidence in the commission staff, its director, and chairman, Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan.

Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, who charged that two employees of the commission resigned after being halted in an audit involving the "Wonderful World of Ohio" booklet, agreed that no further purpose could be gained in continuing the discussions.

Fifteen more bills were introduced Monday night in the House as the Thursday deadline approached. House members also passed seven measures and defeated one that would have tightened Ohio's reckless driving laws.

Three minor measures were approved at a typically unproductive session of the politically deadlocked Senate.

They would extend statute of limitation laws to the construction industry, eliminate waste or a chance for profit in the feeding of county jail prisoners, and extend from 100 to 120 days the minimum period between conviction and execution in murder cases.

Among House-approved measures was a proposal to fight pollution and expand recreational use of Lake Erie. Under the measure, permit fees for the taking of minerals from the lake would go into a special fund for its improvement.

Also passed and sent to the Senate was a measure permitting municipalities to purchase materials without competitive bidding in emergency situations.

Mechanization Buildup Seen On U.S. Farms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The government's decision to cut the flow of seasonal foreign farm labor to the United States in order to provide more jobs for domestic labor will probably also lead to increased farm mechanization.

There may be fewer jobs in the vegetable crops industry but jobs that will require greater skills and offer more permanency at higher pay.

Growers have maintained that the domestic labor supply is inadequate, especially in the peak harvest seasons. They have counted on the availability of foreign labor to supplement the domestic force. With this assurance gone, they should be expected to turn elsewhere — to mechanization.

In California, where the $3.64-billion-a-year agricultural business is the state's biggest single industry, growers are looking ahead four or five years to the day when machines will replace most of the human labor employed today. Already cotton, once the biggest user of hand labor, is almost fully mechanized.

The trend has extended to vegetable crops.

For years tomatoes were harvested solely by laborers. Today about 20 machines bring in part of the state's rich crop. Each replaces 50 migrant laborers but provides permanent jobs for 14 to 20 men. Some progress also has been made in developing harvesters for melons, asparagus and lettuce.

For the time being, however, most growers depend almost completely on manual labor.

Until the 14-year-old Public Law 78 expired last December, foreign laborers could be counted on by the 1 per cent of U.S. growers using them. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is now considering use of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which permits a limited number to enter the country for temporary work providing the need is established.

Now that the hourly wage has been raised from $1 to $1.40 it is Wirtz's contention, and that of organized labor, that more domestic labor would go to the fields if housing were improved. During an inspection of migrant housing in California last month Wirtz repeatedly showed his unhappiness with existing conditions.

California has moved on this front. The state plans to build temporary housing for 1,000 migrant families in time for the September harvests. A $2-million federal anti-poverty grant, plus $200,000 in state funds, will finance the project. But since 161,250 migrant workers were employed last year in California, the state's effort is modest at best.

For the Council of California Growers this emphasis on housing is obviously regarded as an interim measure. As one spokesman said recently: "The ultimate solution is mechanization."

Cancer Society Stresses Three Themes during April

The American Cancer Society will stress three themes during its 1965 Crusade against cancer in April.

All are especially important and vital in helping save lives from cancer, according to Dr. William Fraas, Pickaway County Crusade Chairman. The themes are:

1. "Tell Your Neighbor." This means passing on to neighbors facts about cancer that might save their lives. Facts everyone should know about early diagnosis and prompt treatment as a precaution against death, also what people should know about the value of an annual health checkup. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment save lives.

2. "To Help Cure More, Give More." There are about 1,300,000 Americans, now alive, cured of cancer. A large contributing factor has been broad public and professional education programs and research efforts. The American Cancer Society needs more money to help carry on and expand these programs.

3. "Fight Cancer With a Check and a Checkup." Many die from cancer today because they do not have an annual health checkup which can usually reveal the disease when it is early and most curable. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment is the difference between one out of two saved instead of one out of three — the number being saved now. If cancer exists, an annual checkup will usually disclose the disease when it is most curable. The check is self-evident: without finance for important future research we can not hope to save half of those who develop cancer. Also the check will help provide greatly needed funds for broader public, professional and service programs.

"The effectiveness of these themes," Dr. Fraas said, "depends on the public's response to them. They are meaningful because anything that helps save lives has great meaning."

Rep. B. A. Broughton, R-Geauga, chairman of the House Education Committee, and several other Republicans are sponsoring the School Foundation bill which also would provide an additional $91 million in state school funds in the 1965-67 biennium.

The measure reportedly has the backing of the administration.

It would make permanent in the law a $200 annual teacher pay hike proposed for the 1965-67 biennium only in the governor's $1.4 billion general appropriations bill. It also would hike minimum salary schedules for teachers by $500-$700.

Reps. Robert Netzel, R-Miami, and Sam Landes, R-Madison, who were to offer the proposal involving unwed parents, conceded that the bill would "bring the wrath of social workers down on us."

They said in a joint statement the legislature must "face up to the issue that illegitimacy is being encouraged by the present provisions of ADC (Aid to Dependent Children)."

Their bill would change the law so that children born out of wedlock after Jan. 1, 1966, could not receive aid if another child in the same family is receiving aid.

"We are compounding the problem if a mother knows the additional children she bears out of wedlock will be supported by the state," the lawmakers added.

The return of the legislature from weekend recess was marked by introduction of another flock of bills and a sudden end to an investigation of charges that the Legislative Service Commission had been infiltrated by politics.

The 14-member commission, fact-finding arm of the general assembly, ended its second hearing on the charges and approved a vote of confidence in the commission staff, its director, and chairman, Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan.

Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, who charged that two employees of the commission resigned after being halted in an audit involving the "Wonderful World of Ohio" booklet, agreed that no further purpose could be gained in continuing the discussions.

Fifteen more bills were introduced Monday night in the House as the Thursday deadline approached. House members also passed seven measures and defeated one that would have tightened Ohio's reckless driving laws.

Three minor measures were approved at a typically unproductive session of the politically deadlocked Senate.

They would extend statute of limitation laws to the construction industry, eliminate waste or a chance for profit in the feeding of county jail prisoners, and extend from 100 to 120 days the minimum period between conviction and execution in murder cases.

Among House approval measures was a proposal to fight pollution and expand recreational use of Lake Erie. Under the measure, permit fees for the taking of minerals from the lake would go into a special fund for its improvement.

Also passed and sent to the Senate was a measure permitting municipalities to purchase materials without competitive bidding in emergency situations.

U.S. Tourism Still Booming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rapidly rising passport applications indicated today that more Americans than ever before will travel abroad this year.

This is despite — and some say partly because of — President Johnson's effort to discourage the outpouring of U.S. tourists dollars overseas.

As part of his campaign to curb the gold drain, Johnson is plugging "see the U.S.A." vacation trips. "Foreign travel should be encouraged when we can afford it, but not while our payment position remains urgent," he said Feb. 10.

According to preliminary estimates here, about 2.2 million Americans went abroad in 1964. This figure, a new high, does not count travel to Canada and Mexico which are considered within the dollar area.

The travel count for 1965 won't be in until next year. But applications for passports are a signal of what to expect — and business is booming for the State Department's passport issuers.

The latest cumulative statistics show that for the first nine months of the fiscal year which will end June 30, passport applications ran about 13 per cent ahead of a year ago. This spring the increase has been higher than that — about one-quarter ahead of the 1964 level.

At this rate, the calendar 1965 total of overseas trips by Americans could run well over 2.5 million. Officials figure the travelers' dollar outlays could exceed last year's $3 billion, enough to raise the U.S. deficit on tourism by $200 million. The gap was $1.6 billion in 1964.

A variety of reasons are reported behind the travel surge, among them Johnson's balance-of-payments campaign.

The President's action on travel so far has been confined mainly to persuasion. But some tourists apparently figure that Johnson will get tougher, and they want to get going before the government lowers the boom on pleasure trips.

Mechanization Buildup Seen On U.S. Farms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The government's decision to cut the flow of seasonal foreign farm labor to the United States in order to provide more jobs for domestic labor will probably also lead to increased farm mechanization.

There may be fewer jobs in the vegetable crops industry but jobs that will require greater skills and offer more permanency at higher pay.

Growers have maintained that the domestic labor supply is inadequate, especially in the peak harvest seasons. They have counted on the availability of foreign labor to supplement the domestic force. With this assurance gone, they should be expected to turn elsewhere — to mechanization.

In California, where the $3.64-billion-a-year agricultural business is the state's biggest single industry, growers are looking ahead four or five years to the day when machines will replace most of the human labor employed today. Already cotton, once the biggest user of hand labor, is almost fully mechanized.

The trend has extended to vegetable crops.

For years tomatoes were harvested solely by laborers. Today about 20 machines bring in part of the state's rich crop. Each replaces 50 migrant laborers but provides permanent jobs for 14 to 20 men. Some progress also has been made in developing harvesters for melons, asparagus and lettuce.

For the time being, however, most growers depend almost completely on manual labor.

Until the 14-year-old Public Law 78 expired last December, foreign laborers could be counted on by the 1 per cent of U.S. growers using them. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz is now considering use of the Immigration and Nationality Act, which permits a limited number to enter the country for temporary work providing the need is established.

Now that the hourly wage has been raised from $1 to $1.40 it is Wirtz's contention, and that of organized labor, that more domestic labor would go to the fields if housing were improved. During an inspection of migrant housing in California last month Wirtz repeatedly showed his unhappiness with existing conditions.

California has moved on this front. The state plans to build temporary housing for 1,000 migrant families in time for the September harvests. A $2-million federal antipoverty grant, plus $200,000 in state funds, will finance the project. But since 161,250 migrant workers were employed last year in California, the state's effort is modest at best.

For the Council of California Growers this emphasis on housing is obviously regarded as an interim measure. As one spokesman said recently: "The ultimate solution is mechanization."

Cancer Society Stresses Three Themes during April

The American Cancer Society will stress three themes during its 1965 Crusade against cancer in April.

All are especially important and vital in helping save lives from cancer, according to Dr. William Fraas, Pickaway County Crusade Chairman. The themes are:

1. "Tell Your Neighbor." This means passing on to neighbors facts about Cancer that might save their lives. Facts everyone should know about early diagnosis and prompt treatment as a precaution against death; also what people should know about the value of an annual health checkup Early diagnosis and prompt treatment save lives.

2. "To Help Cure More, Give More." There are about 1,300,000 Americans, now alive, cured of cancer. A large contributing factor has been broad public and professional education programs and research efforts. The American Cancer Society needs more money to help carry on and expand these programs.

3. "Fight Cancer With a Check and a Checkup." Many die from cancer today because they do not have an annual health checkup which can usually reveal the disease when it is early and most curable. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment is the difference between one out of two saved instead of one out of three — the number being saved now. If cancer exists, an annual checkup will usually disclose the disease when it is most curable. The check is self evident: without finance for important future research we can not hope to save half of those who develop cancer. Also the check will help provide greatly needed funds for broader public, professional and service programs.

"The effectiveness of these themes," Dr. Fraas said, "depends on the public's response to them. They are meaningful because anything that helps save lives has great meaning."

Railroader Accused in Triple Slaying

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Ralph DePietro 56-year-old railroad inspector, will be arraigned Wednesday in Common Pleas Court on three counts of first-degree murder for the unexplained killings of three persons.

DePietro was indicted Monday by the Trumbull County Grand Jury for the March 29 slaying of Samuel Cook, 52, Thomas Demeter, 44, and Mrs. Rose Maderitz, 51.

Sheriff's deputies quoted a third man, James Morris, 62, as saying he, DePietro, Cook and Demeter went together to look at some property. The four later stopped at several taverns. They stopped at an abandoned railroad right of way, Morris was quoted as saying, and DePietro suddenly whipped out two guns and began firing.

Deputies said it appeared Mrs. Maderitz was picked up later by DePietro. Her body was found in a ditch.

DePietro had two loaded automatics with him when he was arrested the next day in a Youngstown tavern, authorities said.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Nuff Said!

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14? I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, I'm pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest!"?

MOTHER AT 29
DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up just to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather heavy woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old housedress that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it.

"COMFORTABLE"
DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken back and replied only, "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold"?

SWEDEN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA
IN JERSEY: I also believe in letting sleeping dogs lie, but next time, wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

Billy Graham Returns to Dixie Colleges

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham turned to the campuses of two more Alabama colleges today to climax a four-day crusade twice delayed by rain.

A morning sermon at the football stadium at Auburn University and another at Tuskegee Institute tonight will bring the famed minister's tour of Alabama to a close. He then will go to Copenhagen, Denmark, for a two-week revival.

Graham will return to this state for what he calls a major evangelistic crusade in Montgomery beginning June 13.

A heavy spring thunderstorm cut short the services at the University of Alabama Monday night just as another downpour had interrupted Graham's sermon at Dothan Sunday.

Before the storm halted the program Graham had spoken only briefly to the racially mixed crowd of about 10,000 huddled beneath umbrellas in the concrete stands.

Graham again made no mention of Alabama's racial problems but he did make a passing reference to racial troubles generally.

NEW YORK (AP)—"What does Jackie Gleason drink from his cup?" asks a reader of the column. "Is it coffee?"

This occasional Gleason-watcher at once decided that if there is coffee in Mr. G's cup, it may possibly be the very worst brew in the world if one judged by the Great One's reaction to an occasional sip.

However, a question of such grave import deserves something more authoritative than a guess, so attempts were made to get the answer from, so to speak, the horse's mouth. Gleason, however, was not available because he is incommunicado for the next three days cutting a new record album.

The next best source was CBS' official Gleason authority. "Ah yes," said the Gleason authority. "We get many requests for this information."

Then came a little pause followed by the cautiously worded statement: "We tell them that he says it is coffee."

There is, however, an unconfirmed rumor around Miami that the beverage in the cup is champagne. This, too, may be discounted, because, unless it is very sour champagne indeed, no connoisseur ever had such a violent reaction to a sip of a fine wine.

The Peabody Awards for distinguished achievement, made Monday, contain some irony, not unusual in awards-giving in television.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series, one recipient, is one of the few remaining dramatic anthologies in the medium; Burr Tillstrom performed his award-winning manual pantomime on the opening show of this season's "That Was the Week That Was," a series now canceled. "Profiles in Courage," another winner, was based on John F. Kennedy's book and cannot be extended.

NBC's handsome special "The Louvre," and "CBS Reports" certainly were outstanding programs and worthy of recognition. And ABC's William H. Lawrence is an intelligent, responsible journalist.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 (EDT)—25th anniversary program with repeats of taped segments by Harry Belafonte, Joan Sutherland, Maurice Chevalier and Rudolf Nureyev, among others.

Area Girl Scouts Plan To Participate in Fair

Two Girl Scout Troops of District VII of the Seal of Ohio Council will exhibit and present demonstrations of scout work at the council's biennial Program Fair to be held 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. Saturday in Veteran's Memorial Exhibition Hall, Columbus.

Local groups planning to participate are Troop 117 (Logan Elm Neighborhood) who will exhibit painting under the direction of their leader, Miss Florence Russell; and Troop 730, Ashville, who will be dancing the Virginia Reel, led by Mrs. James Irwin, leader of the troop and a member of the Program Fair Committee.

According to Mrs. R. M. Tangeman, Columbus, fair co-ordinator, the purpose of the Program Fair is to tell the story of Girl Scouting. The theme for the event is "Girl Scouting, a Promise in Action."

There will be 32 folk dancing and singing groups along with 132 exhibits. Mrs. Jeanne Bray, Columbus policewoman and Mrs. Edwin M. Erickson, council president, will officiate at the ribbon cutting ceremony at 11 a. m.

From noon throughout the day Girl Scout films and national and international opportunities speakers are scheduled. Displays and demonstrations will spotlight troop activities including camping, first aid, hostessing, service to the community, ceramics and crafts. Folk dancing and singing groups are scheduled each 15-minute throughout the nine-hour program.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Nuff Said!

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14? I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, I'm pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest!"?

MOTHER AT 29
DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up just to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather heavy woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old housedress that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it.

"COMFORTABLE"
DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken back and replied only, "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold"?

SWEDEN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA
IN JERSEY: I also believe in letting sleeping dogs lie, but next time, wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

Billy Graham Returns to Dixie Colleges

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham turned to the campuses of two more Alabama colleges today to climax a four-day crusade twice delayed by rain.

A morning sermon at the football stadium at Auburn University and another at Tuskegee Institute tonight will bring the famed minister's tour of Alabama to a close. He then will go to Copenhagen, Denmark, for a two-week revival.

Graham will return to this state for what he calls a major evangelistic crusade in Montgomery beginning June 13.

A heavy spring thunderstorm cut short the services at the University of Alabama Monday night just as another downpour had interrupted Graham's sermon at Dothan Sunday.

Before the storm halted the program Graham had spoken only briefly to the racially mixed crowd of about 10,000 huddled beneath umbrellas in the concrete stands.

Graham again made no mention of Alabama's racial problems but he did make a passing reference to racial troubles generally.

NEW YORK (AP)—"What does Jackie Gleason drink from his cup?" asks a reader of the column. "Is it coffee?"

This occasional Gleason-watcher at once decided that if there is coffee in Mr. G's cup, it may possibly be the very worst brew in the world if one judged by the Great One's reaction to an occasional sip.

However, a question of such grave import deserves something more authoritative than a guess, so attempts were made to get the answer from, so to speak, the horse's mouth. Gleason, however, was not available because he is incommunicado for the next three days cutting a new record album.

The next best source was CBS' official Gleason authority. "Ah yes," said the Gleason authority. "We get many requests for this information."

Then came a little pause followed by the cautiously worded statement: "We tell them that he says it is coffee."

There is, however, an uncomfortable rumor around Miami that the beverage in the cup is champagne. This, too, may be discounted, because, unless it is very sour champagne indeed, no connoisseur ever had such a violent reaction to a sip of a fine wine.

The Peabody Awards for distinguished achievement, made Monday, contain some irony, not unusual in awards-giving in television.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series, one recipient, is one of the few remaining dramatic anthologies in the medium; Burr Tillstrom performed his award-winning manual pantomime on the opening show of this season's "That Was the Week That Was," a series now canceled. "Profiles in Courage," another winner, was based on John F. Kennedy's book and cannot be extended.

NBC's handsome special "The Louvre," and "CBS Reports" certainly were outstanding programs and worthy of recognition. And ABC's William H. Lawrence is an intelligent, responsible journalist.

Recommended tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 (EDT)—25th anniversary program with repeats of taped segments by Harry Belafonte, Joan Sutherland, Maurice Chevalier and Rudolf Nureyev, among others.

Area Girl Scouts Plan To Participate in Fair

Two Girl Scout Troops of District VII of the Seal of Ohio Council will exhibit and present demonstrations of scout work at the council's biennial Program Fair to be held 11 a. m. to 8 p. m. Saturday in Veteran's Memorial Exhibition Hall, Columbus.

Local groups planning to participate are Troop 117 (Logan Elm Neighborhood) who will exhibit painting under the direction of their leader, Miss Florence Russell; and Troop 730, Ashville, who will be dancing the Virginia Reel, led by Mrs. James Irwin, leader of the troop and a member of the Program Fair Committee.

According to Mrs. R. M. Tangeman, Columbus, fair co-ordinator, the purpose of the Program Fair is to tell the story of Girl Scouting. The theme for the event is "Girl Scouting, a Promise in Action."

There will be 32 folk dancing and singing groups along with 132 exhibits. Mrs. Jeanne Bray, Columbus policewoman and Mrs. Edwin M. Erickson, council president, will officiate at the ribbon cutting ceremony at 11 a. m.

From noon throughout the day Girl Scout films and national and international opportunities speakers are scheduled. Displays and demonstrations will spotlight troop activities including camping, first aid, hostessing, service to the community, ceramics and crafts. Folk dancing and singing groups are scheduled each 15-minute throughout the nine-hour program.

Rainbow Girls Meet For Carry-in Dinner

The next meeting will be on May 4 and election of officers will take place.

Tiger Thinclads Topped by Bexley

Circleville High School track team was defeated by Bexley, 76-42, in a dual meet yesterday held on a slow, wet track.

Tiger coach Jim Lint noted the two inside lanes of the Bexley track were covered with water and could not be used.

Jim Wood, back in action for the first time since the beginning of the season, won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5 and

Twins Throw Best Hurlers At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—The red-hot Minnesota Twins plan to throw their two best pitchers at the Cleveland Indians in a two-game series opening at Municipal Stadium tonight.

Jim Kaat has a 2-0 record, including a shutout against the Indians last week, and Camilo Pascual is 1-0.

The Twins' pitching plans have benefitted by the loose schedule in the opening weeks of the season and by a number of postponements. The Indians, on the other hand, have seen Birdie Tebbetts' well-laid pitching plans mangled by bad weather.

Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant are expected to pitch for the Indians.

Sam Mele, the Twins' pilot, says his team is much improved over last year.

"We're running much better and after two years of trying we've finally got our guys to go for an extra base and make the other guys throw the ball around," he said.

The Twins are rolling along at the top of the American League standings with a 6 - 2 record.

"Our bench is much improved, too, which might be the biggest factor in our success this far.

"Last year we didn't have much bench and it hurt us bad. I know there were plenty of times some of the regulars were tired but I couldn't get them out," Mele added.

led for first in the 100-yard dash.

Lint withheld Wood from the low hurdles because of the muscle injury that has kept him out of action. However, the Tiger track mentor noted the senior timber topper did not seem to be hampered by the injury.

OTHER first place winners for Circleville were George Ramey with a toss of 45-feet 2-inches in the shot put, Gene Smith, with a 120-foot 11-inch effort in the discus, Larry Morgan with a time of 4:56 in the mile, and Howard Dade with a time of 23.1 in the low hurdles.

Lint noted that Gene Smith cleared the pole vault at 11 feet the same height as the winner. But he had more misses than the two Bexley competitors and had to settle for third.

The next meet for the Tigers is Friday when they will compete in the Wilmington relays.

Flood Is Boon To Fishermen

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Mississippi River, which has flooded lowlands in Minnesota for a month with huge property losses, proved a boon to three adventurers, wading hip-high in its muddy waters Monday.

The youngsters were casting a line for rough fish, generally known as scavengers, in three feet of water covering St. Paul's downtown airport.

"Something seemed to have caught on my hook," said Tom Dahir, 15, "and I began to pull it in slowly."

The catfish weighed 40 pounds, measured 44 inches in length and its girth was 26 1/2 inches.

Ohioans losing their matches and eliminated were Joe Miller of Hamilton, Gary Artz of Cuyahoga Falls, Gene Boni of Sandusky, Roger McManus of Hartsville and Ed Meister of Willoughby.

Koufax Falls, But Astros Ace Still Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Phillies finally have caught up with Sandy Koufax. But the National League still hasn't caught up with Dave Giusti.

While the Phillies were edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night and beating Koufax for the first time since 1961, Giusti pitched the Houston Astros to their fifth straight victory with a four-hit, 2-0 job against Pittsburgh.

It was the first complete game of Giusti's major league career and gave the 25-year-old right-hander a remarkable record of three victories in Houston's last five games. In four appearances this season, the former Syracuse University standout has an eye-opening 0.64 earned-run average.

Giusti was overpowering against the Pirates, striking out nine and walking none. The triumph lifted the Astros one game above .500, and Giusti received an unusual hero's welcome when he returned to the Houston dressing room.

Finally realizing it was locked, he knocked. Walt Bond responded, peered out and said: "Somebody out there knocking?"

Bond also played a key role as the Astros scored twice off Bob Friend in the seventh inning. Singles by Jim Wynn, Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced one run and Bond scored the other on Bob Bailey's error after advancing to third on Rusty Staub's long fly.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning after surrendering seven hits.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored when Al Ferrera misjudged Koufax's drive and it sailed over his head for a triple.

Rojas scored the final Philadelphia run in the ninth when he walked, stole second and came home on Clay Dalrymple's single. That turned out to be decisive.

Clay-Liston Ticket Sale Reported Good

NEW YORK (AP) — The advance sale for the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight at Boston May 25 already has doubled the figures for the postponed bout, says Harold Conrad, publicity chief for the show.

Originally scheduled for Nov. 16, the championship was postponed on Nov. 13 when Clay had to undergo an emergency hernia operation.

Duke Carmel, added by the Yankees to strengthen their bench, failed to hit in 29 trips to the batter's box in spring exhibition games.

Bold Ruler, sire of Bold Lad, won 23 of 33 races and $764,205 in his racing career. In 1958 he was ninth on the money winning list.

THE Blue Lions drew a first round bye.

The winner of the Teays Valley - London game will play Franklin Heights. The Vikings are 0-2 for the season and London is 4-5.

All games are scheduled to begin at 4 p. m.

The central district this year has been divided into four sections for baseball.

Other games in the sectional which includes local teams are: Grove City at Ready and West at South. The winner of the Grove City-Ready game plays at Central May 6.

Third man on the list was Billy Capser with a total — official and unofficial — of $32,579. Bruce Devlin was fourth with $24,564 and Bobby Nichols was fifth with $22,279.

Bold Lad, Bugler Matched In Crucial Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The two equine giants of the 51st Kentucky Derby hooked up today in the one mile of the $15,000 Derby Trial while Tom Rolfe, the mighty mite of the probable field of 12, gained support by doing nothing more than gallop around Churchill Downs track.

Bold Lad and Bugler, heading a field of seven in the Trial, are the two biggest horses in the field which will break from the Churchill Downs starting barrier at 4:45 p.m., EST, Saturday. Each stands around 16 1/2 hands or 67 inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 1,100 pounds.

By contrast, Tom Rolfe from the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest, U.S. ambassador to Ireland, is a midget. He stands a mere 15.2 hands—62 inches — measured from the withers. And he wouldn't tip the scales at more than 975 pounds.

Yet within the last few days, Tom Rolfe has gained strong support chiefly because of his fine performance in last Saturday's seven-furlong Stepping Stone, in which he poured on the heat in the last one-eighth mile to measure Native Charger, Flamingo and Florida Derby winner, by 1 lengths.

Unless Bold Lad turns in a brilliant performance today, Tom Rolfe likely will wind up one of the top choices Saturday along with Mrs. Ada L. Rice's

Lucky Debonair, the Santa Anita Derby and Blue Grass Stakes winner, and Mrs. Ben Cohen's streaking stretch runner, Hail To All.

Small horses have won the Derby. Determine, the 1954 winner, stood an even 15 hands. Clyde Van Dusen, who won in 1929 as Lightning and Thunder belted the track, measured 15.1 while Northern Dancer, who showed the way home last year, was the same height as Tom Rolfe.

Bill Hartack, the controversial jockey who has compiled the astounding Derby record of four victories in six rides, was aboard the Wheatley Stable's Bold Lad for the first time today as he tackled Bugler from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm and five comparatively unknowns named Carpenter's Rule, Apple Core, One Afternoon, At First Blush and Leonine.

It would take something short of disaster to keep either Bold Lad or Bugler out of Saturday's 1 1/4-mile Run for the Roses regardless of what they do today. But the others definitely will have to show their trainers something or they'll be on the sidelines when the cream of the 3-year-olds parade to the Derby post before a crowd of 100,000 and a national television audience.

The race will be televised by CBS from 4-5 p.m.

Pleasant View Nine First Circleville Tournament Foe

The Circleville High School baseball team has drawn Pleasant View in its opening game of the Central District Tournament on May 4.

Teays Valley, the county's oldest Class AA high school, will play at London in its opening tournament tilt.

The Circleville-Pleasant View game will be played on the Panthers' home diamond. To date, Pleasant View owns a 3-2 record.

Circleville coach Don Neff said the Panthers will probably use veteran hurler George Fannin on the mound. The winner of the game will meet Washington C. H. May 6.

THE Blue Lions drew a first round bye.

The winner of the Teays Valley - London game will play Franklin Heights. The Vikings are 0-2 for the season and London is 4-5.

Sisler Agrees Redlegs Are Team To Beat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler is in an agreeable mood.

"I quite agree with the experts who pick us as the team to beat," he commented Monday after watching his Reds working out during an off-day in the schedule.

"We've got the pitching," he said. "no doubt about that."

"We're also hitting much better than we did at this time last season," he continued. "The last time I looked at the batting averages for the National League clubs, we were on top."

Cincinnati opens a three-game

stand against the Chicago Cubs tonight, and it'll be a reunion for the Reds' Jim Maloney and the Cubs' Dick Ellsworth, the opposing pitchers.

Both were 1958 graduates of Fresno, Calif., High School and played important roles in pushing the school's baseball team to the California state championship.

Sisler backed up his comment about the Reds' pitchers by noting that Maloney "convinced" him he's ready to go. Maloney, a right-hander, had a dismal spring training and was kept from the starting rotation for a week.

But in his first and only start,

Tiger Thinclads Topped by Bexley

Circleville High School track team was defeated by Bexley, 76-42, in a dual meet yesterday held on a slow, wet track.

Tiger coach Jim Lint noted the two inside lanes of the Bexley track were covered with water and could not be used.

Jim Wood, back in action for the first time since the beginning of the season, won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.5 and tied for first in the 100-yard dash

Lint withheld Wood from the low hurdles because of the muscle injury that has kept him out of action. However, the Tiger track mentor noted the senior timber topper did not seem to be hampered by the injury.

OTHER first place winners for Circleville were George Ramey with a toss of 45-feet 2-inches in the shot put, Gene Smith, with a 120-foot 11-inch effort in the discus, Larry Morgan with a time of 4:56 in the mile, and Howard Dade with a time of 23.1 in the low hurdles.

Lint noted that Gene Smith cleared the pole vault at 11 feet the same height as the winner. But he had more misses than the two Bexley competitors and had to settle for third.

The next meet for the Tigers is Friday when they will compete in the Wilmington relays.

Twins Throw Best Hurlers At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—The red-hot Minnesota Twins plan to throw their two best pitchers at the Cleveland Indians in a two-game series opening at Municipal Stadium tonight.

Jim Kaat has a 2-0 record, including a shutout against the Indians last week, and Camilo Pascual is 1-0.

The Twins' pitching plans have benefited by the loose schedule in the opening weeks of the season and by a number of postponements. The Indians, on the other hand, have seen Birdie Tebbetts' well-laid pitching plans mangled by bad weather.

Sam McDowell and Luis Tiant are expected to pitch for the Indians.

Sam Mele, the Twins' pilot, says his team is much improved over last year.

"We're running much better and after two years of trying we've finally got our guys to go for an extra base and make the other guys throw the ball around," he said.

The Twins are rolling along at the top of the American League standings with a 6 - 2 record.

"Our bench is much improved, too, which might be the biggest factor in our success this far.

"Last year we didn't have much bench and it hurt us bad. I know there were plenty of times some of the regulars were tired but I couldn't get them out," Mele added.

Koufax Falls, But Astros Ace Still Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia Phillies finally have caught up with Sandy Koufax. But the National League still hasn't caught up with Dave Giusti.

While the Phillies were edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night and beating Koufax for the first time since 1961, Giusti pitched the Houston Astros to their fifth straight victory with a four-hit, 2-0 job against Pittsburgh.

It was the first complete game of Giusti's major league career and gave the 25-year-old right-hander a remarkable record of three victories in Houston's last five games. In four appearances this season, the former Syracuse University standout has an eye-opening 0.64 earned-run average.

Giusti was overpowering against the Pirates, striking out nine and walking none. The triumph lifted the Astros one game above .500, and Giusti received an unusual hero's welcome when he returned to the Houston dressing room.

Finally realizing it was locked, he knocked. Walt Bond responded, peered out and said: "Somebody out there knocking?"

Bond also played a key role as the Astros scored twice off Bob Friend in the seventh inning. Singles by Jim Wynn, Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced one run and Bond scored the other on Bob Bailey's error after advancing to third on Rusty Staub's long fly.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning after surrendering seven hits.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored when Al Ferrera misjudged Cookie Rojas' drive and it sailed over his head for a triple. Rojas scored the final Philadelphia run in the ninth when he walked, stole second and came home on Clay Dalrymple's single. That turned out to be decisive.

Clay-Liston Ticket Sale Reported Good

NEW YORK (AP) — The advance sale for the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight at Boston May 25 already has doubled the figures for the postponed bout, says Harold Conrad, publicity chief for the show.

Originally scheduled for Nov. 16, the championship was postponed on Nov. 13 when Clay had to undergo an emergency hernia operation.

Duke Carmel, added by the Yankees to strengthen their bench, failed to hit in 29 trips to the batter's box in spring exhibition games.

Bold Lad, Bugler Matched In Crucial Derby Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The two equine giants of the 51st Kentucky Derby hooked up today in the one mile of the $15,000 Derby Trial while Tom Rolfe, the mighty mite of the probable field of 12, gained support by doing nothing more than gallop around Churchill Downs track.

Bold Lad and Bugler, heading a field of seven in the Trial, are the two biggest horses in the field which will break from the Churchill Downs starting barrier at 4:45 p.m., EST, Saturday. Each stands around 16.4 hands or 67 inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 1,100 pounds.

By contrast, Tom Rolfe from the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest, U.S. ambassador to Ireland, is a midget. He stands a mere 15.2 hands—62 inches — measured from the withers. And he wouldn't tip the scales at more than 975 pounds.

Yet within the last few days, Tom Rolfe has gained strong support chiefly because of his fine performance in last Saturday's seven-furlong Stepping Stone, in which he poured on the heat in the last one-eighth mile to measure Native Charger, Flamingo and Florida Derby winner, by 1 lengths.

Unless Bold Lad turns in a brilliant performance today, Tom Rolfe likely will wind up one of the top choices Saturday along with Mrs. Ada L. Rice's

Lucky Debonair, the Santa Anita Derby and Blue Grass Stakes winner, and Mrs. Ben Cohen's streaking stretch runner, Hail To All.

Small horses have won the Derby. Determine, the 1954 winner, stood an even 15 hands. Clyde Van Dusen, who won in 1929 as Lightning and Thunder belted the track, measured 15.1 while Northern Dancer, who showed the way home last year, was the same height as Tom Rolfe.

Bill Hartack, the controversial jockey who has compiled the astounding Derby record of four victories in six rides, was aboard the Wheatley Stable's Bold Lad for the first time today as he tackled Bugler from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm and five comparatively unknowns named Carpenter's Rule, Apple Core, One Afternoon, At First Blush and Leonine.

It would take something short of disaster to keep either Bold Lad or Bugler out of Saturday's 1 1/4-mile Run for the Roses regardless of what they do today.

But the others definitely will have to show their trainers something or they'll be on the sidelines when the cream of the 3-year-olds parade to the Derby post before a crowd of 100,000 and a national television audience.

The race will be televised by CBS from 4-5 p.m.

Nicklaus on Top Of Money List

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus tops the Professional Golfers' Association list of 10 top money winners again this week.

Nicklaus has won $34,400 in official money to head runner-up Doug Sanders, winner of $33,245 officially. However, Nicklaus is way ahead of Sanders in total money earned — which includes unofficial non-PGA sanctioned events — by $42,825 to $36,673.

The PGA ranks its players only on money won in official tournaments.

Third man on the list was Billy Casper with a total — official and unofficial — of $32,579. Bruce Devlin was fourth with $24,564 and Bobby Nichols was fifth with $22,279.

Bold Ruler, sire of Bold Lad, won 23 of 33 races and $764,205 in his racing career. In 1958 he was ninth on the money winning list.

game will be played on the Panthers' home diamond. To date, Pleasant View owns a 3-2 record.

Circleville coach Don Neff said the Panthers will probably use veteran hurler George Fannin on the mound. The winner of the game will meet Washington C. H. May 6.

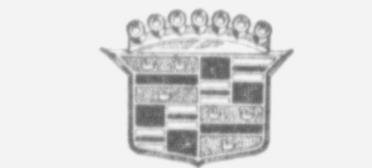

THE Blue Lions drew a first round bye

The winner of the Teays Valley - London game will play Franklin Heights. The Vikings are 0-2 for the season and London is 4-5.

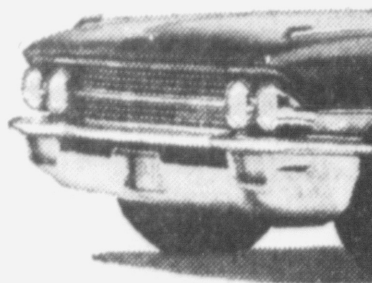

All games are scheduled to begin at 4 p. m.

The central district this year has been divided into four sections for baseball.

Other games in the sectional which includes local teams are: Grove City at Ready and West at South. The winner of the Grove City-Ready game plays at Central May 6.

Sisler Agrees Redlegs Are Team To Beat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler is in an agreeable mood.

"I quite agree with the experts who pick us as the team to beat," he commented Monday after watching his Reds working out during an off-day in the schedule.

"We've got the pitching," he said. "no doubt about that."

"We're also hitting much better than we did at this time last season," he continued. "The last time I looked at the batting averages for the National League clubs, we were on top."

Cincinnati opens a three-game

stand against the Chicago Cubs tonight, and it'll be a reunion for the Reds' Jim Maloney and the Cubs' Dick Ellsworth, the opposing pitchers.

Both were 1958 graduates of Fresno, Calif., High School and played important roles in pushing the school's baseball team to the California state championship.

Sisler backed up his comment about the Reds' pitchers by noting that Maloney "convinced" him he's ready to go. Maloney, a right-hander, had a dismal spring training and was kept from the starting rotation for a week.

But in his first and only start,

Maloney hurled a one-hitter last week against the Milwaukee Braves, and is hoping his fast-ball holds up against Ellsworth and the Cubs tonight. Ellsworth takes a 2-0 record into the game.

Elsea Resigns Grid Post At Westfall

The Westfall Board of Education yesterday accepted the resignation of Asa Elsea as an industrial arts instructor and a head football coach. It was announced today by Judson Lannan, executive head.

Elsea told the board he plans to go into business with his father, Robert S. Elsea, owner of Circleville Mobile Homes.

A graduate of Circleville High School, Elsea was a place kicking specialist for the Bowling Green State University football team.

Following graduation from college, he accepted the position as industrial arts instructor and football coach at Westfall.
